2-CENT SUGAR LEVY ACCEPTED IN HOUSE VOTE

Senate Rate Approved in Roll Call Ballot by 228 to 160.

90 REPUBLICANS AID LOWER-DUTY FIGHT

Logs, Lumber, Shingles Are Put Back on Free List.

EXPORT DEBENTURE ACTION DUE TODAY

Conference Report Must Go to Senate Before Hoover Gets Bill.

(Associated Press.)

The long controversy over a higher sugar tariff was terminated yesterday as the House, on a rate-slashing rampage, climaxed an eight-hour session b voting to accept the lower Senate levy of 2 cents a pound on Cuban raws. The present rate is 1.76 cents.

The 2-cent duty was approved by a roll call vote of 228 to 160, after it had been rejected on a division by 20 to 196. The record vote definitely fixed 2 cents as the duty to be carried in the measure to be sent to President Hoover for approval.

The House measure originally provided a rate of 2.0 cents, and had the Senate levy been rejected, the high sugar tariff advocates wereprepared to offer 2.20 as a compromise. This never came to a vote.

90 Republicans Vote for Senate Rate.

Ninety Republicans, mostly from the East, joined 137 Democrats and the one Farmer-Labor member, Kvale, of Minnesota, for the Senate rate. Fourteen Democrats, chiefly from Louisiana, Florida and Colorado, combined with 146 Republicans against the lower duty.

Given an opportunity to vote on individual rates for the first time, the House also rejected the Senate Silver duty and eliminated virtually all duties carried in either bill on logs, lumber and shingles.

This completed action on all rates unsettled by the Senate and House conferees and reserved for separate votes in the House. Today the House will remain in session to complete action on the measure by voting on the Senate's export debenture provision and the modified flexible tariff clause which restores to Congress the power now vested in the President to make emergency rate changes after investigation by the Tariff Commission. The Senate must yet act on the conference report and agree to the House rate actions of yesterday before the bill can be sent to the White House.

Congressional Action Near Complete.

Unless the Senate disagrees with any of the House votes necessitating further conferences between the two branches, congressional action on the measure, sixteen months in the making, ought to be completed next week.

The Senate's duty of $1.50 a thousand board feet on fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch lumber and railroad ties and telegraph poles of all woods, all of which are now on the free list, was modified on motion of Representative Hawley (Republican), Oregon, to 75 cents; but this was rejected twice, on a division, 230 to 178, and on a record vote, 250 to 143. All were restore dto the free list by viva voce vote.

Shingles, which the House took from the free list and made dutiable at 25 per cent, were restored to the free list, as provided by the Senate, on a division vote of 280 to 102 and a roll-call ballot of 279 to 110.

Logs on Free List.

Logs of fir, spruce, cedar and Western hemlock, now dutiable at $1 a thousand board feet, were made free, as provided by the Senate, by a division vote of 290 to 105.

A similar vote of 289 to 108 restored cedar lumber to the free list, as called for in the Senate measure. The House bill originally provided a duty of 20 per cent. Hawley was prepared to compromise on 15 per cent on shingles and cedar lumber, but this never reached a vote.

Logs of Spanish cedar, ebony, mahogany and other hardwoods, now dutiable at 10 per cent, also were put on the free list by a viva voce vote.

Duty Cut on Flooring.

The only duty on manufactured lumber approved was that on 6 per cent Senate levy on maple, birch and beech flooring, and this is a reduction from the original House elevy of 15 per cent. This flooring is now free.

Canadian imports figured largely in the speeches of Westerners for lumber rates. No mention was made, however, of the Canadian Government's action of Wednesday in placing countervailing duties on all goods exchanged with the United States based on existing American tariffs and

Massey Transferred To London by Canada

Minister to Washington Will Take New Post in September

VINCENT MASSEY.

Ottawa, May 2 (A.P.).—Premier Mackenzie King announced tonight that the government intends to appoint Vincent Massey as Canadian high commissioner at London. Mr. Massey will remain at Washington, where he is now Canadian Minister, until the summer vacation. He will go to London about September 1.

Mr. Massey will arrive in London in time to be in readiness for the imperial and economic conferences, which open on September 20.

He was appointed Canada's first minister plenipotentiary on November 10, 1926.

Mr. Massey is of American ancestry. Nine generations ago his paternal ancestors landed with the Pilgrims in Salem, Mass., and the family continued to live in the United States until about 1800 when the envoy's great-grandfather moved to Ontario.

Mr. Massey's mother was born in Illinois, the daughter of the late Bishop Vincent, founder of the American Chautauqua. She is a sister of George E. Vincent, former head of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Mr. Massey was educated at the University of Toronto and at Oxford. He was a professor of history until the outbreak of the war, when he took over direction of musketry training for the Canadian army, later serving as associate secretary of war. In 1925 he became a member of the Dominion's privy council.

OHIO PRISON BLAZE LAID TO NEGLIGENCE

Inquiry Board Gives Three Probable Causes of Fire's Origin.

ESCAPED MAN CAPTURED

Columbus, Ohio, May 2 (A.P.).—Negligence was blamed for the Ohio Penitentiary fire which took 320 convict lives April 21 in a report submitted today to Gov. Myers Y. Cooper by his inquiry board, while at the same time a report submitted by the State fire marshal expressed belief the origin of the fire was incendiary.

Negligence consisted in the alleged failure of prison officials to designate some one to take command of the situation arising from the fire inside the prison walls, the inquiry board's report said. Negligence caused the delay in opening cell doors behind which the doomed convicts were locked, while there was also serious delay in sending in the fire alarm, the report said, despite the fact the prison had no fire apparatus.

Giving three possible causes for the fire as defective wiring, incendiarism and spontaneous combustion, the report said strong circumstantial evidence indicated the fire was started by the temporary wiring in the I and K cell blocks.

The temporary wiring, while dangerous, was found to be in working order, the fire marshal's report said, however. Stressing the incendiarism idea, the marshal pointed out that oil and gasoline was available to convicts within the prison walls.

In a statement commenting on the report of the special board of inquiry, Gov. Cooper said there is beyond question merit in the board's conclusions, and that "retrospectively, these are but natural conclusions. However, it must not be lost sight of that there was another ever-present threat and hazard beyond the possibility of fire, and with possibilities of most serious consequences, that confronted the administrative officials of the penitentiary, namely, that of riot and wholesale escape."

While the governor was releasing the reports, the scene at the prison stockade where the mutinous convicts are huddled, remained comparatively tranquil under the watchful eyes and the loaded rifles and machine guns of the National Guardsmen. There were only a few minor disorders.

Deputy Warden J. C. Woodard announced that a check of the prisoners

DOCUMENTS BLAME RIOTS ON SOVIET AID

Data Revealed by Whalen Denounced as Forgeries by Russians.

FULL INQUIRY IS SOUGHT

New York, May 2 (A.P.).—Police Commissioner Grover Whalen today made public documents, variously described as authentic and as forgeries, purporting to give evidence that the Communist International, of Moscow, was financing riots and strikes in the United States, fomented by emissaries sent here for the purpose by Soviet officials.

Photostatic copies of the documents, which were seized by New York police, were furnished to newspapers, with translations by the commissioner, accompanied by a statement in which he evidently accepted them as authentic. Even when shown statements by two prominent Russians in this country, who were mentioned in the papers, he replied only that the documents were very definite and complete and he was "afraid they must speak for themselves."

One of the documents was a letter on the stationery of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, official purchasing agent for the Soviet, which has done millions of dollars worth of business in this country, and was signed with the name of G. Grafpen, an Amtorg official.

It listed 30 persons said to have been sent here as Soviet agents who would be "hard to replace" if they were recalled, naming among them Peter A. Bogdanov, recently elected chairman of Amtorg, and Boris E. Skvirsky, director of the Soviet information bureau at Washington.

Another document purported to be a mandate sent to Grafpen from Moscow appointing him to take general charge here of the Soviet "secret criminal police" in this country. The document said that Skvirsky would handle all financial matters and that Bogdanov should be consulted wherever business affairs were involved.

Bogdanov, in New York, and Skvirsky, in Washington, both issued statements in which they asserted that the documents were forgeries. Bogdanov insisted that Amtorg was purely commercial and added that an investigation had been instigated in

Two Deaths, Bitter Battle Result of Pigeon Triangle

Male and His New Consort Fight Loyal Mother of Squabs.

A double murder and a sanguinary fight on the portico of the District Supreme Court yesterday stirred court attaches, lawyers, witnesses and others.

The dead were two squabs and the combatants were three full-grown pigeons.

The fight started when the male pigeon, a huge white-plumed bird, came home to his nest in the portico roof bringing with him a blue-feathered female. He found his loyal mate in the nest caring for two young birds apparently about 3 weeks old.

All three of the adult birds at once mixed in as gamely as bantam roosters or fighting cocks. The two squabs were the first to fall, tumbling to the marble floor of the portico with the

WOMAN AVERS SCHOOL STAFF SWAYS BOARD

Senate Group Studying Direct Election Bill Hears Charge.

DOMINATION IS LAID TO ADMINISTRATION

Jones Urges Witness to Name Her Source of Information.

COMMITTEE ROOM PACKED AT HEARING

Representatives of Citizens Advisory Council and Federation Speak.

A charge that officials who administer the local public schools dominate members of the Board of Education created a stir yesterday at a hearing before the Senate District committee on the Capper bill providing for popular election of the board.

It was made by Mrs. William T. Bannerman, chairman of a joint committee representing various parent-teacher associations and civic associations in favor of the bill.

"One board member told me," said Mrs. Bannerman, "that he did not like to vote for anything opposed by the school administration because of persecution and because it was practically impossible to get a majority against anything the administration favored.

Alleged Statement Cited.

"I asked if the schools shouldn't be administered primarily to educate children. He said the schools are being administered in the interest of the people who are administering them."

Senator Jones (Republican), of Washington, asked Mrs. Bannerman if she were sure she quoted the board member correctly, and she replied that she was.

"I can not believe any member of the board would make a statement like that," Senator Jones said.

"He made it to me," said Mrs. Bannerman.

"I think you ought to say who made that statement," Senator Jones declared.

Consultation Urged.

"I can not without conferring with him," Mrs. Bannerman replied.

"Then I want you to confer with him," the Washington senator pressed. "I do not want all the board members to be under the suspicion of making that statement."

The Capper bill is substantially the same measure that has been before Congress for several years. Under its provisions, the city would be divided into three sections, and each would elect three members of the school board.

At present, the nine members of the board are appointed by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Meeting Room Crowded.

At yesterday's hearing on the bill, the committee room was crowded with mothers of children, the great majority of them proponents of the bill.

Mrs. Bannerman declared that in nearly every city members of the school board are elected by popular vote or else chosen by those elected by popular vote. And statistics show, she said, that where such a school board is functioning, playgrounds are larger and more numerous, teachers better paid, and the percentage of older pupils higher.

Mrs. W. G. Stuart, representing parent-teacher organizations of the Powell and Bancroft schools, took issue with Mrs. Bannerman. The great need here, she said, was for a board with more power. The Capper

SENATE'S VOTE ON PARKER DUE NEXT MONDAY

Three Remain to Speak in Defense of Nominee to Supreme Court.

OPPOSITION CLOSES WITH NORRIS' TALK

Ballot Outcome Depends on Persuasive Words in Cloakrooms.

HOOVER SUPPORTERS STRIVE FOR SUPPORT

Nebraskan Answers Charge That Fight on Judge Is Bench Attack.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate vote on Judge John J. Parker, recently nominated for the Supreme Court, went over yesterday until Monday with no indications that there had been any appreciable change in the line-up.

As many as three senators remain to speak in his defense. The opposition is believed to have closed with Senator Norris' speech yesterday.

Unless something out of the ordinary develops, however, the remaining speeches will not affect the vote one way or the other. Indeed, the discussions yesterday and that of Thursday were characterized by a general apathy. There have been few times when there was a large attendance on the floor, not what could be called a full attendance, in fact, since Senator Borah's opening speech.

Few Administration Gains.

The outcome of the case has depended almost from the outset on persuasive words in the cloakrooms, with the speeches on the floor being mostly for the record.

The administration is still, what might be termed, as turning heaven and earth to get the regulars back on the reservation and to pick up some Southern Democrats. It has made some gains but the impression prevails that it has reached the rock-bottom of availabilities.

Senator Norris' speech was an answer to Senator Fess' charge that the opposition to Judge Parker was in reality a continuation of the assault upon the Supreme Court launched several weeks ago with the fight on Chief Justice Hughes.

Not Attacking Court.

He was not attacking the court, Senator Norris insisted, adding that he was opposed to Judge Parker because he differed from his views. He wanted the court to retain its high estate, he declared, and for that reason did not want Judge Parker to go upon it.

"I want to keep the Supreme Court on a higher plane than it would be if it were filled with men with one idea—wealth and big business," he declared. "I am opposed to Judge Parker because I do not believe in his ideas."

"It has been said," he continued, "that we are not treating the Supreme Court with proper respect; that we are indulging in debate which is injurious to the principles of our Government. I deny any such insinuations. I deny any lack of respect on our part for Judge Parker, the Supreme Court or any judge or the appointive power."

Brandeis Fight Recalled.

He recalled the fight that the Republicans made on Justice Brandeis when he was appointed by President Wilson, and the bitter ends to which they went to encompass his defeat. The fight lasted six months.

"I was surprised," he said, "in looking over the roll call on Justice Brandeis' nomination to find that I am the only Republican now in the Senate who voted to confirm Judge Brandeis' appointment. The fight against him was not carried on on a

Quaint Old Senate Custom

The controversy raging in the Senate over the appointment of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, marks a recurrence of Senate obdurateness that has manifested itself time and again in American politics. David Rankin Barbee goes thoroughly into the subject in a special article entitled "Just a Quaint Old Senate Custom," in the tabloid magazine tomorrow.

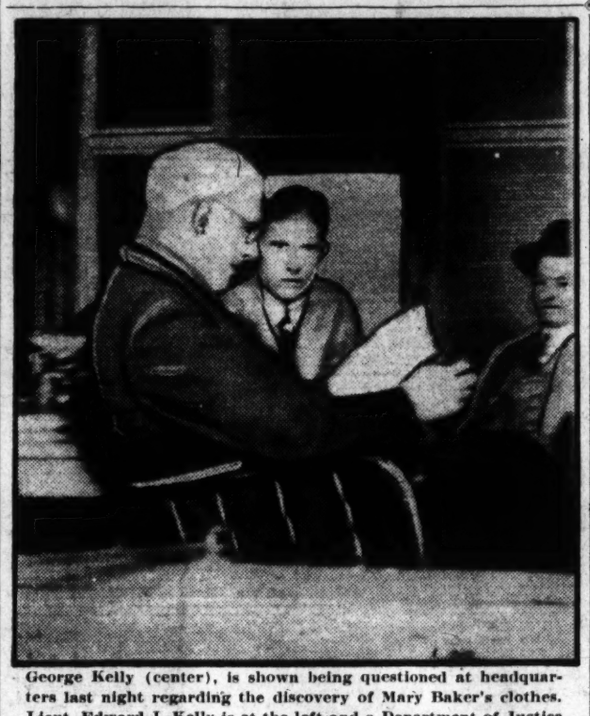
MAN FOUND DROWNED IN POTOMAC MAY PROVE BAKER GIRL'S KILLER



George Kelly (center), is shown being questioned at headquarters last night regarding the discovery of Mary Baker's clothes. Lieut. Edward J. Kelly is at the left and a Department of Justice agent at the right.

Body Taken Out of River Scarcely Mile From Murder Scene.

SUICIDE AFTER CRIME, IS THEORY OF POLICE

Clothes to Be Examined Carefully Today for Identity Clews.

FINDER OF WOMAN'S GARMENTS GRILLED

George Kelly Brought to City After Yonkers Arrest on U. S. Warrant.

Mary Baker's slayer may have been the man whose body was found last night floating in the Potomac River near Key Bridge scarcely a mile from the culvert where the body was found on April 11. Police voiced this theory last night after viewing the remains of the man at the District Morgue, marking the latest turn in the search for the murderer of the Navy Department clerk.

Scratches on the man's neck were cited by the police as possible evidence that he may have engaged in a violent struggle before he is believed to have taken his life in the waters of the Potomac. A long scratch was noticeable on his forehead. It may develop that the lesions were received while the body was in the water.

Minute examination of the body was impractical last night because of its decomposed condition. Laundry marks on the clothing are being checked in the hope that his identity will be learned. Outside of the laundry marks police had no other tangible clews last night upon which to identify the body.

Vague Resemblance Seen.

The physical characteristics correspond with the vague description furnished the police of the man who was seen beating Miss Baker in her automobile in the vicinity of the Ellipse.

Discovery of the body temporarily halted the grilling of George Kelly, 22 years old, of Yonkers, N. Y., one of the finders of the girl's clothing. Kelly was brought from Yonkers last night by Detective Carlton Talley on a warrant charging him with having broken into a Twelfth street rooming house and having taken jewelry and clothing.

Kelly was denying this charge and was also denying ever having seen the trinkets found with the girl's clothing when the flash came to headquarters announcing the discovery of the body.

Suicide Theory Held.

Lieut. Kelly, Lieut. Warren Embrey and two Department of Justice agents made an examination of the remains and police expressed the thought that the man may have killed the girl and later committed suicide.

From their examination, police judged the man to have been about 5 feet 7 inches in height and about 170 pounds in weight. He had sandy hair, streaked with gray. A blue serge suit, white shirt with detached collar, low black shoes and a blue tie with polka dots will be cut from the body today and an attempt made to trace his idenity hrough these articles.

Mud was caked heavily on the man's features. Police did not make a thorough examination last night, but physicians will make one today. A check-up of missing men at headquarters last night did not uncover any descriptions which tallied with that of the body.

Body Floating Face Down.

William T. Reynolds, who conducts a boat house at the foot of Thirty-fourth street, saw the body floating face downward off the dock at Thirty-third street northwest. Private Charles Birkigt, of the Harbor Precinct, who was nearby, rowed out

FARMS' FORFEITURE SOUGHT IN RUM CASE

Stills Worth $60,000 Seized and Land Confiscation Asked in Illinois.

PRACTICE HELD NOT NEW

Chicago, May 2 (A.P.).—Libel proceedings for the forfeiture of two Illinois farms on the ground that their owners permitted violations of the Federal prohibition act on the premises were begun today in Federal court at Peoria, Ill., E. C. Yellowley, district prohibition administrator, said late today.

The defendants are Joseph Englehaupt, of Spring Valley, Ill., and Elmer Flaherty, of Ladd, Ill. Yellowley said his agents last Wednesday seized a $40,000 still on the Englehaupt 520-acre farm and in another raid yesterday confiscated a distilling plant worth between $20,000 and $25,000 in operation on Flaherty's farm.

Flaherty's farm is a 208-acre tract.

The forfeiture proceedings were in charge of United States District Attorney Walter M. Provine at Peoria. Yellowley indicated the forfeiture method was a departure in prosecution of alleged violators of the prohibition laws.

(Associated Press.)

Libel proceedings instituted at Peoria, Ill., to forfeit two farms on which stills were found, follow a practice that has been used for years under the internal revenue act.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran said last night that the proceedings are not a new departure but had frequently been taken advantage of by the Prohibition Bureau.

The law first was passed to enable the Internal Revenue Bureau to proceed against absent owners of property on which moonshine stills were found. In the days before prohibition it was considered one of the most effective instruments at the command of the Internal Revenue Bureau in its fight against moonshiners.

The law permits a Federal court to forfeit to the Government the property on which liquor is illegally manufactured. It has been used frequently in the East and was invoked less than a year ago in Brooklyn, N. Y., against property in which a still was located.

SMITH APARTMENT RECEIVERS CHOSEN

Court Also Names Two Men Collectors for Building of Same Company.

ACTION IS FIRST IN CITY

(Picture on Page Two.)

Justice William Hitz, in District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday, named Herbert L. Davis, former auditor of the court, and Charles S. Baker, attorney at law, receivers for the Jefferson Apartments at Sixteenth and M streets northwest, and collectors for the F. H. Smith Building at 815 Fifteenth street northwest. Both properties were financed through the F. H. Smith Co., formerly of Washington and now of New York City. The court's action is the first of the kind taken against any of the company's local properties, although a Buffalo, N. Y., court recently ordered a receiver for the entire Smith Co in New York State.

Selection of Mr. Davis and Mr. Baker came shortly after Justice Hitz had announced from the bench that he would appoint a receiver for the apartment building and a collector for the office building. He suggested at that time that opposing counsel get together and agree on suitable men, which was immediately done.

While continuing until May 7 the question of receivership for the Smith Building the justice's decision to appoint a collector is tantamount to a temporary receivership. In fact, the official orders in each case instruct Mr. Davis and Mr. Baker "to collect all rentals and income and to hold same subject to the further order of the court." In the case of the receivership, however, the justice ordered the two court agents "to take over the management and operation" of the Jefferson Apartments.

Both Mr. Davis and Mr. Baker immediately made bonds of $25,000 each, $20,000 as receivers and $5,000 as collectors.

The court was asked to appoint a receiver for the Smith Building, but Justice Hitz declined to take such

X-Ray Shows Equestrienne Suffers Serious Injuries

Internal Hurts Resulted When Horse Fell on Frances Saul.

Suffering from internal injuries which were revealed after X-ray examinations, Miss Frances Saul, 25 years old, daughter of B. F. Saul, prominent real estate operator, last night lay in a critical condition at Emergency Hospital. She was hurt about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon when her horse stumbled, threw her, and fell on her right leg.

Hospital officials announced for the first time that Miss Saul's condition was regarded as extremely serious, particularly in view of the internal injuries, which did not appear when an initial examination showed that she was suffering from shock and a fractured leg.

Coupled with this announcement, the hospital made known that Miss to it and brought it ashore. It was taken to the District Morgue in a patrol boat by Patrolmen C. E. Ladow and C. E. Adams, of the Harbor Precinct.

From the advanced stage of decomposition it was evident that the body had been immersed for at least two weeks.

Kelly and Talley, who left Yonkers at noon yesterday, appeared at headquarters at 6:30 o'clock.

Men in City on Crime Date.

Detective Talley learned in Yonkers yesterday that Kelly and a Raymond Morrison, 21, also of Yonkers, were in Washington at the time of the crime Morrison is now free under $500 bond on a charge of larceny preferred against him in Yonkers. Police believe that the proceeds of the larceny was used to finance the men's trip to this city.

While in Yonkers Talley also questioned Jay Nash, who lived at the same rooming house with Kelly, who accompanied him on the trip to the murder scene and who was present when the girl's clothing was uncovered in the sewer.

Inspector William S. Shelby said yesterday that Nash had expressed willingness to Talley to return to the District at any time if he could be of any aid to the police.

Warrant Causes Return.

Efforts to have Kelly return to this jurisdiction were fruitless early this week. On Wednesday night Talley left for Yonkers armed with a warrant signed by United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage.

Immediately after his arrival here Kelly was questioned by detectives. While police do not believe he is connected with the actual slaying they are hopeful that he may explain the mystifying presence of the stolen coral beads and other pieces of jewelry in the girl's clothing. The articles had been taken from automobiles parked in the vicinity of the Ellipse, where Miss Baker's murderer is said to have assaulted her.

Police have established the fact that Kelly and Morrison were in a mission lodging house here on April 9, two days before the murder. They were attempting to learn last night whether they were in this city on March 20, when the coral beads were taken from a parked automobile in the Ellipse.

CORPORATION BANS STOCK TRANSFER

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company Moves Against Minority Group.

330,000 SHARES ARE HIT

New York, May 2 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange today was notified by the management of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. that the minority stock which opposed merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem Steel Corporation had been suspended from transfer.

The effect of the order was to render practically non-negotiable some 330,000 Youngstown Sheet & Tube shares held by Cyrus S. Eaton, Otis & Co., and other minority stockholders.

It was said in Wall street circles that the order created a situation unique in corporate annals. Holders of the shares charged that not only would trading be hampered in the "dissenting stock," but that such shares would be affected if used for collateral. Traders expected that the stock exchange would seek an immediate readjustment of the relief of the stockholders affected.

The stoppage of transfer of dissenting stock followed demands of the objecting minority for a "fair cash value instead of Bethlehem stock," an alternative to which they were entitled under Ohio laws. To this demand Bethlehem Steel officials responded with an offer of $110 a share, a value considerably below the market price. The minority in turn asked $180 to $250 per share for their holdings.

MORROW TO LAUNCH SENATE RACE TODAY

Ambassador to Mexico Will Stay in New Jersey and Make Wet Speeches.

HAS DEFINITE RUM PLAN

New York, May 2.—A Washington dispatch to the New York World says:

Dwight W. Morrow's political plans are to be announced formally tomorrow. He will not return now to his post of ambassador at Mexico City, nor will he take the profered seat in the United States Senate at thsi session.

Instead, he will devote himself to his campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey, and will make his promised unequivocal announcement of his stand on the prohibition issue in a speech in Essex County.

This will be the first of a series of speeches. It will outline his program and it will, according to all evidences in advance, be not only an unequivocal wet declaration, but will present concrete plan for modification and for dealing with thte liquor problem.

Formal Announcement Due.

Either Mr. Morrow himself or the State Department on his behalf will make the formal announcement tomorrow that he will not resume his duties at Mexico City now, and that he will go to New Jersey instead. There he will confer with Gov. Larson, who is ready to appoint him to the Senate for the rest of the present session in place of Senator Baird, who is ready to resign in Mr. Morrow's favor.

Mr. Morrow has had numerous political talks with his friends, including President Hoover, and out of them has come the decision not to take the Senate seat.

Mr. Morrow's views on prohibition were formed long before he thought of running for the Senate, his friends report, and are not founded on expediency or opportunism. How many he will make or just where they are to be given remain to be worked out with his managers.

To Visit Son at Amherst.

Mr. Morrow expects to return to New Jersey tomorrow, and to visit his son at Amherst before plunging into the campaign in which his most formidable rival is former Senator Frelinghuysen, who, however, has unsuccessfully sought the party designation twice since his defeat for re-election.

Mr. Frelinghuysen's flop on prohibition is the most notable conversion to the wet cause so far recorded in this year's political battles, but Mr. Morrow's supporters, without precisely challenging the sincerity of the Frelinghuysen conversion, have stressed it as a confession of long standing error. The greatest fear exhibited by the advisers of both Mr. Morrow and Mr. Frelinghuysen is that an Anti-saloon League candidate might walk away with the prize if the wets split their strength. However, the general view here is that Mr. Morrow, as an unequivocal modificationist, would overwhelm Mr. Frelinghuysen on that score by reason of the latter's belated embracing of the wet cause.

White House to Be Neutral.

Newark, N. J., May 2 (A.P.).—Former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuyser, insurgent candidate for the Senate nomination in the New Jersey primary, today made public a telegram received from the White House stating that President Hoover would be neutral in the primary contest. Mr. Frelinghuysen previously had charged the supporters of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, organization candidate, with seeking votes on the grounds that Mr. Morrow was the "administration's candidate."

"In order to determine what truth was in such statements," said Mr. Frelinghuysen, "I communicated with the White House and on April 25 I received the following telegram from Walter H. Newton, secretary to President Hoover.

"'Your wire received. Neither the President nor the administration has taken any part as between candidates for a Republican nomination in any Republican primary in any State.'"

Hoover Economic Plan Waits Data

Stabilization Program to Be Aided by Study of Recent Market Depression.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover is not expected to set up the economic tsabilization committee discussed by him in his address Thursday before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States until more background is available upon the recent financial depression.

The commission contemplated by the Chief Executive would be an investigating body to inquire into the causes and effects of the depression and suggest methods for preventing a recurrence.

It was pointed out yesterday that the proposed commission would be similar in many respects to one which inquired into the slump in business which immediately followed the World War. At that time it was said, valuable data was obtained through the study of the economic aspects of the situation.

New Arbella Advertising 300th Anniversary of Massachusetts.

Carrying invitations to President Hoover and to the people of Washington to participate in the celebration of the Massachusetts Tercentenary this summer and autumn, an airplane is due to land on Hoover Field at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, nearing the end of a 10,000-mile flight around the country.

The plane has been named the New Arbella, after the ship which brought John Winthrop and his Puritans to the bleak shores of Massachusetts in 1630, to found the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The New Arbella was christened at Boston on April 19, anniversary of the battles of Lexington and Concord, and since then has visited more than 60 cities, including the capitals of 20 States.

The plane's tour is under the joint auspices of the American Legion and the Boston Herald. The national convention of the Legion will be held in Boston in October, final event of the tercentenary program, and the passengers not only have formal invitations to President Hoover from Gov. Allen of Massachusetts and Mayor Curley of Boston, but also from National Commander Bodenhamer, of the Legion. The President has also agreed to visit Boston during the convention.

CAPITAL PASTORS VOTE FOR REPEAL

Poll fo Magazine Shows District Teachers Are for Enforcement.

BANKERS ARE ALSO DRY

The majority of clergymen, lawyers, bankers, and physicians of the District are in favor of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment, while the school teachers are for strict enforcement, the Literary Digest's special classified prohibition straw vote reveals. Proportionately, the ministers are the greatest advocates of repeal.

According to the national tabulation, the school teachers are the driest and the lawyers the wettest professional groups in the United States. The clergy of the country vote strongly for enforcement, although 34 per cent favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead act.

Of the 314 Washington clergymen voting, 234 favored repeal, 38 modification, and 42 enforcement. The lawyers were 419 for repeal, 114 for modification, and 140 for enforcement. Physicians were classified as 282 for repeal, 110 for modification and 115 for enforcement. Seventy-eight bankers voted for repeal, 25 for modification and 28 for enforcement.

Of the 383 school teachers listed, 236 favored enforcement, 65 modification and 82 repeal.

Tabulation of the national balloting revealed the following:

Bankers voted 34,518 for repeal and 35,210 for enforcement, with the balance of 15,096 voting for modification.

Practically one-half of the physicians vote for repeal in this poll while 30 per cent favor strict enforcement and the other 20 per cent register their opinions for modification.

In the special poll of the Literary Digest subscribers the vote of this group for repeal is practically the same ratio as that of the main prohibition poll, but the vote for enforcement is considerably higher while the percentage for modification lags behind the tabulations in the 20,000,000 ballot poll.

In the poll of nearly 500,000 educators the vote for enforcement is higher, 60 per cent than that of the dryest State in the main poll, Kansas, and the vote for repeal is less than 25 per cent of the educators' total vote.

Over 55 per cent of the votes in the lawyers' poll are for repeal while the returns for enforcement are under 30 per cent.

SMALL LOAN RATE BIL BEING FOUGHT

Wisconsin Battle Against Interest Sum Echoes in House Hearing.

DENOUNCED BY OFFICIAL

The fight in Wisconsin over the anti-loan shark, or small loans law, was echoed here yesterday at a hearing before a subcommittee of the House District committee.

The hearing, the third of its kind, was on the Bowman bill, a measure sponsored by the Russell Sage Foundation. It would permit banks here to make loans up to $300 and charge interest rate of 3½ per cent a month, or 42 per cent a year.

The present law for the District limits the interest to 1½ per cent a month, which is too low to attract the banks that do such a business.

Representative Florian Lampert (Republican), of Wisconsin, placed in the record yesterday a letter from the lieutenant governor of his State, Henry A. Huber, in which that official denounced the small loans law.

On top of that, former Representative Ralph Gilbert, of Kentucky, who now represents the Russell Sage Foundation, submitted a letter from C. F. Schwenker, the State bank commissioner of Wisconsin. This official said the small loans law was very satisfactory.

Because the House met yesterday at 11 o'clock instead of at noon, the usual hour of convening, the subcommittee adjourned early. It will meet again this morning.

Man Draws $10 Fine On Contempt Charge

Edward J. Humphrey, of I street southwest, near Sixth street, paid a fine of $10 in Police Court yesterday following his conviction by Judge Robert E. Mattingly on a contempt charge.

Humphrey was charged using uncomplimentary language in the courtroom to two policemen who had testified against his son, Norman K. Humphrey, who was charged with vagrancy. The elder Humphrey, according to the policemen, expressed his opinion of them and their testimony after Judge Mattingly had released the son on his personal bond. The policemen in the case were O. L. Fisher and J. W. Casey, both of the Fourth Precinct.

SMITH PROPERTY'S RECEIVERS CHOSEN

Two Men to Take Charge of Apartment and Collect for Another Building.

ACTION HELD FIRST HERE

action at this time. Attorney Wilton J. Lambert, of defense counsel, pointed out that the petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Smith Building was not filed until Thursday and that he has not had an opportunity to file an answer. Justice Hitz then decided to appoint a collector to take over rentals and other income of the building pending the filing of the answer and a later hearing.

Miss Grace Cauldwell, of 1519 Oak street northwest, who owns one of the first mortgage bonds on the apartment house and one on the Smith Building, was the petitioner for the appointment of the receiver for each of the buildings. Her petition in connection with the apartment building was filed March 18, last, immediately after a court at Buffalo, N. Y., had ordered a receiver for the F. H. Smith Co.

In urging the appointment of receivers for both buildings, W. Gwynn Gardiner, counsel for Miss Cauldwell, went into detail about alleged manipulations of the company's affairs by its former officers and alleged that they had "pyramided huge trusts on their buildings."

Miss Cauldwell in her petitions alleged that each of the buildings is encumbered for several hundred dollars more than it is actually worth. G. Bryan Pitts, former chairman of the board of the Smith Co., and other former officers and directors of the firm are now under indictment in connection with the firm's operations.

NAVAL YARD CREWS FIGHT CUT IN FORCE

Machinist Group Protests Against Building Ships in Private Plants.

ADMIRAL HEARS PLEAS

Protesting the personnel reduction at the Washington Navy Yard as a result of the London naval limitations treaty, a delegation of labor leaders called on Rear Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance, yesterday with suggestions that the threatened layoff might be avoided through repair work on the battleships Mississippi, Idaho and New Mexico and the manufacture of 14-inch shells.

N. P. Alifas, president of District No. 44, International Association of Machinists, led the delegation, which included William H. Smoot, president of Columbia Lodge, No. 174, International Association of Machinists; E. D. Booth, W. J. Cline and F. Licarione, members of the Washington Navy Yard organization.

The workers voiced opposition to President Hoover's plan to permit the construction of two cruisers in private shipyards, while work on three cruisers, designed to be built in Government yards, is halted. They claim that renovation of machinery and the construction of 14-inch shells would keep a comparatively large force active for some time.

The workers also suggested that the Washington Navy Yard crews might be employed in making metal furniture, but this idea elicited small support from Capt. Yancey S. Williams, aid to navy yards, who explained that this work is now being carried out at the Norfok, Va., Navy Yard.

STAYTON IGNORANT OF RUM AT DINNER

Senate Lobby Witness Says He Was Not Present at Campaign Function.

NEXT SESSION TUESDAY

(Associated Press.)

Questioned before the Senate lobby committee concerning memoranda found in his correspondence files which mentioned gin, scotch and other alcoholic beverages, William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, testified yesterday that he had no "personal knowledge" that the liquor had been served at a dinner for a 1928 presidential candidate.

This testimony resulted from questions by Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, the only wet member of the committee.

Mr. Blaine did not mention any presidential candidate by name and did not specify where the dinner he had in mind was held.

Denies Personal Knowledge.

"You have no personal knowledge that this may have been liquor that was served at a dinner given in celebration of a candidate for the Presidency of the United States?" Senator Blaine demanded.

"No, sir, I have not," Mr. Stayton replied. "I wasn't there."

A letter written by Mr. Stayton, which said he knew that President Hoover "is not at heart a dry" also was read before the committee. The letter, written to Herbert L. Clark, of Philadelphia, said in part:

"If he were sincerely a dry, one might hope to convince him by argument or statement of facts, but, as I know that he is not at heart a dry, I fear that I must approach the conclusion that he is a dry because of the prospective profit in votes and nothing that has to do with right and wrong or with facts will make any impression upon him."

Another version of President Hoover's attitude toward prohibition was given, however, in a letter written by Representative Peavey (Republican), Wisconsin, which said the Chief Executive was "so dry he squeaks."

Stayton Is Excused.

Mr. Stayton was excused after his testimony yesterday and the committee adjourned until Tuesday. It will then begin an investigation of dry organizations, inquiring first into the activities of the Antisaloon League.

Mr. Blaine questioned Mr. Stayton after Chairman Caraway of the committee had examined him concerning slips attached to correspondence referring to a speech former Senator Wadsworth (Republican), New York, was to deliver at the University Club in Baltimore in 1928.

Mr. Stayton, a Democrat, had invited Mr. Wadsworth to speak at the dinner. The witness said he himself was prevented by illness from attending.

The slips mentioned gin, scotch, liquor, "champ" and "verm." Mr. Stayton said he could not explain the memoranda.

MEMORIAL BUILDING FUNDS ADVOCATED

Mrs. Henry F. Dimock Urges Passage of Goff Bill fro $5,000,000.

1932 COMPLETION SEEN

If the Federal Government will authorize a $5,000,000 appropriation toward the project, the George Washington Memorial Building, the foundation for which has been laid at Sixth and B streets, could be finished by 1932, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock declared yesterday before the Senate public buildings and grounds committee.

Mrs. Dimock, who is head of the George Washington Memorial Association, appeared before the committee to urge early action on the Goff bill authorizing the $5,000,000 contribution. If the bill were passed, Mrs. Dimock told Chairman Keyes, there would be no doubt about raising the other $4,000,000 which it is proposed to spend on the memorial.

The memorial, the witness said, will have an auditorium to seat up to 11,000 persons and would have a room for each of the 48 States.

The committee also heard property owners who are opposed to closing of Van Ness street. It is proposed to close this street in order to allow for expansion of the Bureau of Standards.

The fight against closing the street was led by William J. Neale, of the Devonshire Downs Citizens Association, who pointed out that this thoroughfare, already open, connects Connecticut avenue with Wisconsin avenue.

Dr. G. K. Burgess, director of the Bureau of Standards, told the committee that while the additional land is not now needed by the bureau, it certainly will be 25 years from now. To acquire it now, he said, would mean a big saving.

Man Fined for Digging Ditch.

Max Miller, of Fifteenth street northwest, near K street, was fined $25 in Police Court yesterday on a charge of digging a ditch without a permit.

NEW CRUISER DELAY FAVORED BY HOOVER

Three 10,000-Ton Warships Should Await Change in Design, Is Belief.

MORROW TO AID TREATY

By ALBERT W. FOX.

On the eve of the Senate's consideration of the London Naval Treaty the following developments were made known yesterday:

First—President Hoover has approved plans of the Navy Department to delay actual construction of the next three 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers to be built at Government yards until new designs can be drawn up. Lessons learned by American naval experts during their stay in Europe will be embodied in the new designs and construction will not be held up more than a month or two.

Second—Secretary Stimson has decided to retain the services of Dwight Morrow, retiring American Ambassador to Mexico, until the prospective treaty battle in the senate is concluded. Mr. Morrow will appear before the Senate committee on foreign relations and is counted upon favorably to impress committee members. He may also appear before the naval affairs committee and will endeavor to be of service to individual senators during the progress of the Senate debate.

Third—The administration is understood to believe that Senate committee hearings on the treaty will not consume as much time as now anticipated. This is based on the impression that committee members will speedily become convinced of the merits of the treaty after the first few witnesses have testified.

Chief Point of Difference.

Fourth—Indications are increasing that the so-called safety clause in the treaty will be the chief subject for the Senate's consideration and that much will be heard for and against this clause before the battle is over.

The wording of the clause is attracting more and more attention by senators and opinions have divided along three lines. One group, which is inclined to be critical of the pact, interprets the safety clause to mean that no real parity with Great Britain is guaranteed by the treaty because the British retain the right to exceed the treaty limitations and because America could only build the particular types of ship which the British need to cope with French submarines in the narrows of the British Channel in case the limitations are exceeded. America would not waste millions to build such types and would therefore retain parity in theory only, according to this group.

The point is also made in these quarters that America would be committed to a British-American policy of retaliation against France which would arouse ill feeling from French quarters and promote continual international suspicion. This group, in support of its own contention, claims that the wording of the safety clause does not permit America to build the types of ship which America may need in case the British exceed the limitations and adds that America would be guilty of trickery if she attempted to build much needed cruisers in case the British exceed the limitations by destroyer construction.

Supporters of Clause.

Supporters of the safety clause as it stands contend that the British have insisted upon the safety clause in its exact wording, but do not expect to be called upon to exceed the treaty limitations. This group is divided among those who maintain that it would be a breach of faith for America to build cruisers if the British build destroyers and those who claim that America would be free to build cruisers, after separate announcement of an intention to do so. The charge of bad faith would lie at the door of the British in case the limitations are exceedd, despite the clever and elusive language of the safety clause, it is further claimed.

The third group favors the idea of making America's position clear before ratification with respect to the safety clause. Proper safeguards for America, including the right to announce construction of a cruiser program, in case the British exceed the treaty limitations, are referred to as absolutely essential to protect America, to obviate any future charge of bad faith and to insure against capricious action by the British in exceedng the limitatons because of French plans.

A realization that America will feel free to build ships that America needs if the British builds ships that Great Britain needs, in excess of the limitations, would have a decided effect toward making the limitations really binding, according to the latter group.

Commission Approves Nautical Speed Limit

The District Commissioners yesterday approved a recommendation of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, that the speed of boats in local waters be restricted to 10 land miles an hour.

The restriction applies to the Washington Channel, the Eastern Branch and the Georgetown Channel above Memorial Bridge. Violations will be punishable by fine of not more than $300 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days. The new regulation was prompted by complaints that the wash of fast traveling motor boats damaged boats moored to wharves, floats along the upper river, and Government boats at work on the channels.

Worker Fractures Ribs In Fall From Dynamo

Edward F. Hall, 23 years old, of 504 Fifteenth street southeast, an employe of the Capitol power plant, at South Capitol and E streets southeast, slipped from a dynamo where he was working and fell about 20 feet yesterday morning.

Mr. Hall was removed to a public health station at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast, where he was treated for fractured ribs and bruises about the body. The injury was said to be not serious, and he was later taken home.

KUOMINTANG PLANS NEW CHINESE RULE

Seat of Government Will Be at Peiping, Which Is to Be Peking Again.

CONGRESS WILL GATHER

Peiping, China, May 2 (A.P.).—The new Chinese government which will be established at Peiping, ancient capital of this country, aims at a legal and stable government instead of military or provisional rule. Dr. Tchoun Gao Hsiang, commissioner of foreign affairs for Yen Hsi Shan, the northern conqueror of this old city, said today that the "people's congress," called to meet this month by Yen, had that goal as its desire.

"Yen has decided, and this decision also has been approved by party leaders," said Dr. Tchoun, "that a legal government must be organized and established at Peiping on a solid basis and that all necessary formal procedures which will be observed in its organization are now working to that end.

"Various Kuomintang (People's party) leaders have agreed to organize an integral party in which all factions will be represented. All resolutions of this party will be passed by a majority of the members and such resolutions will represent opinion of the party as a whole.

Accord on Government Exists.

"This integral party, now in process of organization, will soon be completed, and when it is completed the new legal government will be created as soon as possible."

Dr. Tchoun said a telegram from Yen announced that Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang and Wang Chin Wei were in perfect accord on forming the new government, emphasizing that they were "determined to cooperate in overthrowing Chiang Kai Shek."

The new regime intends to change the name of Peiping back to Peking and restore its ancient glories. When the Nationalist government was established by Chiang Kai Shek the capital was moved southward to Nanking.

Known as "Model Governor."

Yen, head of the Northern forces which recently took over Pieping without bloodshed, is usually known as the "model governor" of the province of Shansi. Marshal Feng will command the military, and Wang, who heads the left wing of the Kuomintang, will be a leader in political affairs.

Delegates already are arriving for the Congress, which will include delegates from 14 of the 22 Chinese provinces. When the meeting is over Yen intends to ask the world powers for recognition. He considers Chiang's government illegal.

The new regime will be known as the National government of China, as opposed to Chiang's Nationalist government.

New Traffic Plan Effective Today

Pedestrians to Cross on Red Signal Lights at Dupont Circle.

Operation of traffic signal lights around Dupont Circle will be changed this morning, and pedestrians will cross the street on the red signal instead of on the amber and red combination of lights.

The change was ordered by Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, and was not formally approved by the full board of Commissioners. Gen. Crosby simply told William H. Harland and police officials what he wanted done.

The system which has been in use about the circle, Gen. Crosby said, was confusing because it differed from that employed elsewhere in the city. If the new plan works successfully it will be put in operation at Thomas and Iowa Circles.

LAW ENFORCEMENT QUIZ FUNDS SOUGHT

Hoover Seeks $250,000 for Continuation of the Commission.

TO AID STATE OFFICERS

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover asked Congress yesterday to provide an additional $250,000 for the law enforcement Commission to continue its inquiry into the problem "of enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States together with the enforcement of other laws."

Last year when the Law Enforcement Commission was set up by the President, Congress allotted $250,000 for its work. Director Roop, of the Budget Bureau, said in submitting the new estima etthat only about $75,000 would remain of this appropriation at the end of the current fiscal year. The additional fund would be for the fiscal year, 1931.

The commission thus far has submitted to Congress a preliminary report recommending numerous measures to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

Among the recommendations was the transfer of the Prohibitin Bureau to the Justice Department, relief of congestion in Federal courts, a unified border partol, increased prison facilities and a stronger padlock law. The House already has passed the transfer measure and action on the bill is expected in the Senate bofore the end f the sessin.

President Hoover only this week urged Congress to act on the commission's recommendations, and the Justice Department made known plans to cooperate with State and municipal authorities in law enforceemnt, particularly in their efforts to wipe out gangster rings in the larger cities.

SQUAW DEFIES CHAIR IN TRIAL FOR KILLING

Lila Jimerson Gives Up Assurance of Life to Fight Charge.

PLEA OF GUILTY DENIED

Buffalo, N. Y., May 2 (A.P.).—Lila Jimerson, "the red lilac" of the Cayuga Indians, went into county court here today and flung aside her assurance of life in order to stand trial a second time for the murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, wife of the noted artist, Henri Marchand.

Her first trial was halted when she collapsed in court and was taken to a hospital, suffering from hemorrhages induced by tuberculosis. In that hospital she later pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of murder, second degree, and was brought into court today to receive the mandatory sentence of 20 years to life imprisonment.

Discarding the attorneys who defended her at her first trial, the Indian woman was represented by John F. Rogers, of Corning, and John S. McGovern, a former assistant United States district attorney here. Her newly-retained attorneys refused to recognize the plea of guilty to murder, second degree, contending the improvised courtroom in the hospital had been illegal and that Lila still was on trial for murder first degree.

After a sharp interchange between defense counsel and District Attorney Guy B. Moore, County Judge F. Bret Thorn adjourned court. Moore promptly served notice he would move the case of Lila Jimerson for trial Monday on the charge of murder, first degree. Judge Thorn remarked:

"I assume that the defense will stand on the original plea of not guilty."

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WELL, it was certainly good to see Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, a dentist, arise from his seat yesterday and tell those lawyers something.

Those fellows from the first have assumed that they were the only ones interested in the matter of Judge Parker's confirmation or lack of it. Since Monday they have been reveling in their Latin phrases and legal verbiage.

It has been Smith vs. Brown, Fed. 42, and Brown vs. Smith et al, Fed. 43, and so on without end.

They have, these lawyers, confined the case to themselves, discussing it among themselves so to speak, in the manner and language peculiarly their own.

* * * *

SENATOR GLASS, who certainly has as keen a mind as any one in the Senate, tried at the outset to break in on their conversation, but was greeted in each instance with such a withering fire of et als and habeas corpuses that he gave up in disgust and has ceased remaining in the chamber.

The climax was reached when Senator Ashurst arose and told Senator Fess that his thesaurus was pointed the wrong way, which is, of course, what one senator should not say to another one at all.

THE purpose of this is not lost on the lay mind. It is the subtle suggestion wafted out over the country far and wide that if it were not for the lawyers in the Senate there would be no one to dispose of the Parker case.

The inference is very plain that nothing but lawyers should be sent to the Senate, and particularly that those who are already there should by all means be returned.

* * * *

THIS being the situation it was gratifying to see the Minneapolis dentist get up and tell them something.

It was to Senator Fess, master of the law and legal rhetoric, that he addressed his remarks. And one could tell that he was telling the Ohio senator something; one could tell it by the surprised expression on the Ohio senator's face, by the manner in which he held his mouth widely ajar.

Now as to just what it was Senator Shipstead told Senator Fess is not known because he was hard to hear, but he spoke with the assurance of one lawyer to another, and undoubtedly made a very pointed remark.

And he told him something, which he said came down from Roman law.

Senator Fess has not gone back any farther than John Marshall, and about him he has spoken so much that the wags have suggested that it is Marshall that Senator Fess really wants in the Supreme Court.

HOOVER STATEMENT FAILS TO AID MART

Stocks Drop Into Headlong Decline, the Worst Since Early December.

6,000,000 SHARES SOLD

New York, May 2 (A.P.). — Stock prices went into a headlong decline today, the most precipitant since early December, as it became apparent that such favorable developments as the reduction from 3½ to 3 per cent in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate and President Hoover's statement that the worst of the business depression is over had failed to bolster the market.

Selling was in enormous volume in the last hour, boosting total sales on the New York Stock Exchange approximately to 6,000,000 shares, the largest day's turnover since November 13, when the autumn crash touched bottom, with sales 7,761,850 shares in a three-hour trading period. More than 2,000,000 shares were dumped on the market in the last hour of today's five-hour session.

More than two-score issues, including most of the recent popular trading favorites, closed $4 to $16 a share lower. A few leading industrials were bid up at the opening, but a heavy selling movement soon developed. Powerful supporting orders appeared to have checked the decline by early afternoon, and many shares rebounded moderately, but the market turned dull on the rise, and several large professional traders, finding themselves unable to bid stocks up, launched a powerful attack of short selling.

The price index of 90 leading stocks showed a loss for the day of 5.8 points, the sharpest drop since December 12, when the index declined 9.6 points. On October 28, this index, however, lost 25.4 points. The index was reduced to 187.2, where it was nearly 23 points below the year's peak, reached on April 8, and 21 points above the figure at the beginning of the year, showing that about half the year's extreme gain has been lost. The index, however, is 47 points above the low level of November 13.

Allied Chemical lost $16, and J. I. Case, Houston Oil, Eastman Kodak and Electric Power & Light, about $12. Shares losing $5 to $10 included American Can, American Power & Light, A. M. Byers, International Telephone, Johns Mansville, Radio, Public Service of New Jersey and Vanadium. United States Steel closed $2.25 lower, after selling off nearly $4. American Telephone lost $2.37.

23 DEAD ARE LEFT IN WAKE OF STORM

Scenes of Desolation Mark Twister's Path Over Nine States.

SCORES LEFT HOMELESS

Chicago, May 2 (A.P.).—Scenes of desolation today marked the paths of tornadoes and storms which curveted over nine States of the Middle West Thursday, leaving 23 persons dead and scores more injured and homeless.

The whirring black funnel of the tornado dipped to four widely separated places—Takamah, Nebr., Westby, Wis., Norborne, Mo., and Russell, Iowa—and cyclonic winds dealt death elsewhere in the affected area. Property damage, it was estimated, ran into seven figures.

Tekamah, Nebr., had 4 dead; Norborne, Mo., 5; Russell, Iowa, 1; Westby, Wis., 1; Lake City, Minn., 3; Duluth, Minn., 2; Kickapoo, Kans., 2; Lawton, N. D., 1; Rockford, Ill., 1; Galesburg, Ill., 1; Chicago, 1, and Antioch, Ill., 1. Nine of the dead were women.

Two Killed After Storm.

Two of the Illinois deaths were considered aftermaths of the storm. Michael Keaty, an electrician, fell 40 feet to his death while repairing a power wire in Cicero. Charles W. Barnett, 34, a truck driver, of Des Moines, Iowa, drove into a blowndown power wire near Galesburg and was electrocuted.

Richard Shannon, 20, was crushed beneath his lake cottage near Antioch, Ill.

Kansas City, Mo., May 2 (A.P.).—With relief measures well under way tonight in storm-stricken communities of northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri, the destruction visited by last night's series of tornadoes was reckoned at seven dead, about forty injured and property loss of around $500,000.

Red Cross workers sent into the storm area cooperated with local officials in providing shelter for the many homeless families and looking after the injured.

Norborne, Mo., was the hardest hit of the more than a score of villages in both Kansas and Missouri which suffered damage. Five were killed in or near Norborne and the property loss there was pl aced in excess of $100,000.

Farmer and Wife Carried Mile.

Lawrence Kern, 50, a farmer, was killed near Kickapoo and his wife received injuries, from which she died today at Leavenworth. Both were carried about a mile. They were found with their heads buried in soft earth where the twister deposited them.

Clasped in each others arms, Mrs. Gertrude B. Wright, 47, wife of Taylor O. Wright, president of the Norborne Trust Co., and her 17-year-old son, John Martin Wright, were killed in an upstairs room of their home at Norborne.

Striking acros sthe street, the tornado killed Charles Storm, 45, a plumber, and seriously injured his wife and four children.

Stream Sucked Dry.

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wells, living 8 miles northwest of Norborne, also were killed. They were Lillian, 15, and Paul, 2 years old.

Joseph Gray, another farmer near Easton, whose home was destroyed, said the tornado sucked the water out of Stranger Creek, the stream remaining dry for half an hour.

DRIVE OF CHAMBER NETS $18,196 FUND

Sidney Weil's Division With $2,000 Is Now Ahead in Alexandria Scheme.

REV. G.J. HOOKER TO QUIT

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

With the close of the third day of the intensive drive in the Alexandria Forward Movement to raise pledges of $25,000 for a three-year program with a bigger and better chamber of commerce for Alexandria as the objective, the luncheon meeting yesterday in the Young People's Building received reports of a grand total of $18,196 raised to date.

General discussion was indulged in as to conditions, ways and means for conducting the drive, and while many were in favor of a canvass in Washington of the merchants who are greatly patronized by Alexandrians, the majority favored first getting Alexandrians 100 per cent for Alexandria.

Detail reports were as follows, majors of teams reporting: Eppa Kane, $80; Lawrence E. Roland, $150; James M. Armstrong, $700; Joseph H. Newell, $130; J. Kent White, $175; Sidney Weil, $650; St. Clair D. Shelton, $185; J. Frank Myers, $190; Alfred Thomson, $175; T. M. Jones, $330; Robert G. Whitton, $330; initial investment committee, C. C. Lamond, $1,175, bring the total for the day up to $4,270.

The division having made the record in collections to date is No. 60, with Maj. Sidney Weil in charge, and his corps of workers is Capts. Delany Hammond, G. Raymond Gaines and Dr. Peter B. Pullman, Lieuts. Aubra N. Shuman, Jones Cox, Thomas E. Dyson, Joseph Chauncey, Frank B. Howard, Floyd Saunders, Robert O'Neil and Howard L. Arnold. This team is in section B, under Col. A. M. Remschel, and has to date brought in a return of $2,000, or one-ninth of the grand total.

There are three sections, A, B and C, under the leadership of Cols. Hugh Clarkson, A. M. Remschel and L. H. Dudley, respectively, each section having four majors, each major, four captains and each captain three lieutenants.

The solicitation will continue at the convenience of the individual workers until Tuesday, when all are pledged to give the day to the drive with a record attendance at the luncheon on Wednesday in the Young People's Building, at which time a cordial welcome will be extended any citizen of Alexandria, man or woman, who has not been approached, and their subscription to the cause of Alexandria betterment received gratefully.

TRANSFUSIONS FAIL TO SAVE BOY'S LIFE

James Wood, 9, of Bradley Heights, Succumbs to Mastoid Trouble.

SOLDIER OFFERS BLOOD

Medical science and sacrificing friends failed to save the life of James Wood, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wood, of Bradley Heights, Va., who died early yesterday afternoon following two operations for mastoids.

A month ago the little fellow left Georgetown Hospital after a six weeks' seige of pneumonia. He was anxious to get out in the spring weather and play again, and in exposing himself too soon he contracted mastoid trouble.

Blood transfusions were necessary, and when it became known to James' friends with whom he played ball on the Fort Myer Grounds, an entire team volunteered blood in order to help him. Tests were made at the hospital and Sergt. John Lease, one of James' friends at Fort Myer, gave two transfusions.

Fort Myer friends will have charge of the funeral services which will be held in the chapel Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, preceded by a short service at the home at 1:30 o'clock.

He walked through the gate disguised as a doctor, with a physician's white jacket, stethoscope on his neck and a satchel under his arm.

The board of inquiry made no recommendations to the governor, holding that its function was to investigate, leaving the matter of individual blame for the governor to determine.

INDICTED EDITORS FILE THIRD PLEA

Quashing of Indictments on Criminal Libel Charge Is Sought.

TWO ACCUSED ON BOND

Despite their previous denial of such a course of action, a third plea in abatement was filed yesterday in circuit court at Rockville by attorneys for Walter S. Casey, one of the four Montgomery Independent editors indicted on charges of criminal libel by the county grand jury after an investigation of charges of mismanagement of county affairs printed in the newspaper.

The defense previously had filed two pleas in abatement seeking to have two of the indictments quashed. At the time of the first filing they said that they welcomed airing in open court of the charges and for this reason would not attempt to have the third indictment quashed. Defense counsel yesterday declined to give any reason for their change of mind.

The third plea is based on the same grounds as the earlier documents: presence of the entire board of county commissioners in the grand jury room and the leaving of extracts from the law concerning libel with the grand jury by Maj. E. Brooke Lee and Capt. Joseph C. Cissel. Maj. Lee, county Democratic leader, and the county commissioners precipitated the grand jury investigation which preceded the indictment of Casey, Harrison B. French, Morris A. Bealle and Walter W. Liggett. The latter two have not surrendered to the court as yet. Casey and French are on bond.

The indictments against Casey and French were attacked in the first pleas filed, defense counsel holding that there was no reason for filing with regard to Bealle and Liggett inasmuch as they have not been apprehended.

Hearings on the motion to quash will be heard Monday in circuit court at Rockville by Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Judges Robert B. Peter and John S. Newman, a full bench having been asked by the defendants.

Attorneys for the defense are F. Barnard Welch, E. Barrett Prettyman, Edward Peter, Miss Vivian V. Simpson and John Oxley for Casey; Liggett & French, and Harold C. Smith for Bealle.

CHARGE MADE THAT SCHOOL STAFF DOMINATES BOARD

bill, she pointed out, would not endow the elective school board with any more power than the appointed board now has.

Mrs. Stuart's Statement.

Election of board members from districts, Mrs. Stuart said, might result in the choice of men and women, who, instead of thinking of schools from the standpoint of the city as a whole, might think of them in terms of districts. Furthermore, she said, there was danger that undesirable men and women might be elected.

Charles I. Stengle, of the Citizens' Advisory Council, and James G. Yaden, of the education committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations, testified in favor of the bill.

"We citizens pay taxes and furnish the scholars," said Mr. Stengle, "and we want some control over those who teach our children and spend our money."

Yaden Views Outlined.

Mr. Yaden said he was for the bill because, first, it was in accordance with the American theory of self-government; second, because it would make the school board more responsive to wishes of the citizens; and third, because now the school board is a "law unto itself," accountable to no one," and will not give a hearing to parent-teacher and civic organizations.

He said that, with the exception of the Capper-Zihiman free text books bill, he had never known a measure to be so widely indorsed here.

Grover W. Ayers, of the Ten-Mile Square Club, most tenacious of the foes of local suffrage, declared that the Capper bill would do nothing except give encouragement to those who favor suffrage here. There was nothing in the bill, he said, that would improve administration of the schools.

Wood Approves Measure.

Herbert S. Wood, representing the District of Columbia School Association, urged approval of the bill, saying that the schools are distinctly a local enterprise, something with which the Federal Government has no right to interfere.

E. S. Hoffman, Negro, of the Barry Farms Citizens Association, and Mrs. Daniel Murray, of the Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, also spoke in favor of the measure.

The last two witnesses were Albert Stabler, Quaker elder, and John R. O'Neil, father of ten children, who topped the hearing off with two good rounds of laughter.

Mr. O'Neil, in conclusion, nominated Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas, for President of the United States, a motion that was heartily seconded by all the women present.

Youthful Flier Starts Last Leap of Long Hop

Yuma, Ariz., May 2 (A.P.).—Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old transcontinental flier, left Yuma at 4:45 p. m. today for Los Angeles, after rain had forced him to interrupt what was to have been a nonstop hop from Tucson to the coast.

It was raining here when he left, but he expressed determination to reach Los Angeles tonight, probably flying through San Gorgonio Pass.

SLAIN RACKETEER'S WIDOW IN CUSTODY

District Attorney Declares Mrs. Henry Block Has Not Been Frank With Police.

OFFICIALS ARE AT SEA

New York, May 2 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Mrs. Henry Block, widow of the night club owner and racketeer, shot down Wednesday morning by two assailants, was brought before General Sessions Judge Collins tonight and held in $5,000 bail as a material witness in the slaying. If she failed to produce the bail, she was to be kept in the Florence Crittenden Home overnight for questioning tomorrow.

District Attorney Crain said he believed Mrs. Block's statement to the police was not as complete as it might have been, and that he feared she might leave the country.

Dissatisfaction with the police results thus far was also indicated when Mr. Crain announced he had put two of six detectives assigned to him to work on the case. This has not been done by a district attorney for a number of years.

The case, which has led into the beer, night club, slot machine and other rackets, took on more of a Jersey aspect today as Assistant District Attorney Price crossed the Hudson to confer with Inspector Kiely, of the Hoboken police, and with Prosecutor Druhan in Jersey City. The latter, Mr. Price said, is working with him.

Funeral services for Block were held today at the Alpert Bros. funeral parlors. Following the services, Mrs. Block, highly agitated, was brought down to General Sessions.

Ben Pollock, orchestra leader in the Silver Slipper, was questioned today. He said Block had owed him $4,000, and several hours before the killing had paid him all but $200.

Mr. Price intends questioning Ben Marden, who with his brother, was forced from ownership in the Silver Slipper. Today he quizzed Frederic Reike, waiter at the Paramount grill, who attended the Blocks when they dined before the murder.

WHALEN BARES SEIZED DATA BLAMING SOVIET FOR RIOTS

an endeavor to run down the forgers so that they might be prosecuted. Skvirsky said he had information that the documents had been offered for sale for publication before they came into the hands of police and expressed the opinion that they were the work of Czarist emigres.

Commissioner Whalen, however, stood by his original statement that they showed the Communist international to have been directly responsible for recent disturbances in this country. In making public the copies of the seized papers he said that they had been uncovered in an investigation undertaken after receipt of numerous complaints from labor leaders.

Ordered to Go to Seattle.

In the mandate addressed to Grafpen he was ordered to go to Seattle, Wash., to establish temporary headquarters there as Seattle manager for Amtorg and was instructed to send by freight to Moscow "archives from illegal work." In Seattle he was to call a meeting in March of a Soviet representatives there to issue instructions for May Day outbreaks. Attached to the document is a list of 25 persons which, the paper said, were being sent from Russia to be distributed by Grafpen through New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan and Georgia.

Release of the documents today was generally understood to have been made by Whalen in explanation of his having marshaled an immense force of police yesterday to guard against disturbances at a May Day parade and demonstration by some 25,000 Communists. There were no disturbances.

Forgeries, Says Bogdanov Letter.

In a letter to Commissioner Whalen, Bogdanov tonight demanded a thorough investigation of the documents, offering any assistance that Amtorg might give. During 1929, the letter said, trade between the United States and the Soviet Union, "transacted through Amtorg and affiliated organizations, was in execess of $150,000,000."

"This trade," he continued, "has been carried on with numerous American firms, and during the six years of the corporation's existence a very substantial credit position has been built up. The publication in the press of your statement and of the photostatic copies of what we insist to be forged documents may cause substantial damage to us and to the numerous American firms with which we are doing business."

(Associated Press.)

Documents made public yesterday by Police Commissioner Whalen, of New York, purporting to show that the Communist Internationale of Moscow was fomenting disorders in the United States, were called forgeries by Boris E. Skvirsky, director of the Soviet information bureau at Washington.

Skvirsky expressed a hope that the documents would be thoroughly investigated by Federal authorities. He denied all assertions in the papers that his organization was handling funds for a Russian secret service in this country.

Skvirsky said unofficial information coming to him indicated the same purported official documents had been offered for sale for publication in New York for several weeks, and had for their purpose the disruption of Soviet relations with America.

Czarist Emigres Blamed.

"The new Russian documents, as described to me," Skvirsky said, "seem to me to be another link in the chain of forgeries concocted by certain czarist emigres.

"One of these, Druzhelovsky, confessed and was convicted in Moscow three years ago, and members of the Orloff group were caught by the Berlin police and convicted a year ago. The purpose of these forgeries is always the same, to disrupt Soviet relations with other countries and particularly to cripple the foreign trade of the Soviet Union.

"In the present case the object is undoubtedly to destroy the structure of American-Soviet trade, which has been built up laboriously during the past six years with profit to both countries."

French Girl Flier Sets World Mark

Elinor Smith's Endurance Record Is Beaten in 35-Hour Spin.

Le Bourget, May 2 (A.P.).—A French girl flier, Mlle. Lena Bernstein, today hung up an endurance record of 35 hours 46 minutes 55 seconds for women.

She beat by almost ten hours the women's endurance mark recognized here—that of Mlle. Maryse Bastie, who flew for 26 hours 46 minutes 30 seconds last July.

By almost the same margin she exceeded the American women's endurance record achieved a year ago by Miss Elinor Smith at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., 26 hours 21 minutes 32 seconds. It was announced her flight constituted a world record for airplanes of all categories having only one pilot, male or female.

MISS FRANCES SAUL SERIOUSLY INJURED

Saul would be under medical care for a long period, instead of a week or slightly longer, as had been expected at first.

The young woman received her injuries while training a gray saddle horse, which she had bought recently and brought here several days ago from a farm in nearby Virginia in preparation for a benefit horse show scheduled this afternoon at the Wardman Park Saddle Club, Connecticut avenue and Calvert street northwest, where the accident occurred.

The animal she was riding suddenly balked, reared, and threw her to the ground. Stunned momentarily by the fall, she lay prostrate for a few seconds. As she attempted to crawl out of danger the horse stumbled and fell on her leg.

Her father, with whom she resides at 2224 Wyoming avenue northwest, is head of the real estate and insurance firm of B. F. Saul Co., of 925 Fifteenth street northwest.

BALLOT ON PARKER SLATED FOR MONDAY

high plane. Investigators looked into every incident of his life. The real substance of the opposition to Justice Brandeis is contained in the report submitted to the Senate at that time by Senator Walsh, of Montana, which said:

"'The real crime of this man is that he has exposed the iniquities of men in high place in the financial system of the country.'"

Opposition to Brandeis.

Among those who opposed Justice Brandeis, Senator Norris said, were William Howard Taft, Elihu Root and Samuel E. Baldwin, of Connecticut.

Senator Norris read several labor injunctions that have been issued by judges to prove his contention that the judiciary made law. Senator Fess, of Ohio, contended there was legislative authority for such action, but both Senator Norris and Senator Borah said they would like to have Senator Fess show it to them.

Senator Fess has so far made what is believed to have been the only effective speech in Judge Parker's behalf—that is, that the opposition to him was a "socialistic" attack upon the Supreme Court. The other defenders have sought to justify his decision in the yellow dog contract case, but the opponents seem to keep out ahead in this phase of the fight.

Senator Black, of Alabama, yesterday, referring to the provisions of the yellow dog injunction restraining the union from feeding or in any way assisting the West Virginia miners, said its obvious purpose was to starve the miners into remaining in the mines. Senator Fess agreed that while he did not know the facts, such effort would be "inhuman."

DOUBLE MURDER, BLOODY FIGHT RESULT OF PIGEON TRIANGLE

remnants of the nest. They apparently were dead before striking the stone.

With the combatants unmindful of the tragedy the fight continued unabated with much flapping of wings and snapping of bills. Finally the white male was put to flight and the battle became even more intense between the two females, with the mother of the squabs steadfastly defending her corner and the other female seeking to eject her. So intent was the foreign bird to oust the other that the newcomer developed hawk-like tactics, flying away to a higher perch and then swooping downward against the other. At such times the crash of the two bodies could be heard even above the angry cries of the two birds. The fight lasted for more than an hour, when the invading female retired to a neighboring cornice, leaving the mother bird holding the fort—victorious.

While evincing a desire to carry on the battle the mother bird apparently was too badly injured to fly and stamped around in a circle in the space formerly occupied by her nest, peering over the side of the ledge ever and again at the two still bodies of her young.

So intense was the fight that the patented screen which covers all ledges of the Courthouse Building to keep pigeons away was torn down. Apparently it had been dislodged somewhat before the nest was first built.

Pigeon fanciers and other bird lovers who witnessed the fight said that it was the first time they had ever heard of an eternal triangle in the pigeon tribe, much less a bloody fight.

WOMEN FAVOR CUT IN ARMAMENT COST

Voters League Will Support National Measures to Curb War Bills.

19 PIONEERS HONORED

Louisville, Ky., May 2 (A.P.).—From a bitter convention floor battle on blanket support of naval disarmament, the League of Woman Voters tonight turned to gayety, pageantry and birthday candle lighting—a fete to the nineteen national honor roll pioneers present to celebrate ten years of suffrage.

Carefree, they came to the convention hall ballroom without their brown portfolios crammed with legislative problems threshed out today, or left open for settlement at tomorrow's final convention session. Hardest fought of the problems was a measure making a direct link for the first time between an international disarmament program and national disarmament measures in their support.

By a vote of 115 to 79, the measure won through in face of determined opposition, committing the league, as a working organization, to support "international reduction of expenditures for war, and national measures related to such international reduction treaties."

Action Covers Cruiser Bills.

This would cover cruiser bills, as well as the London disarmament treaties, for which a "hearty support" resolution will be considered on the floor tomorrow.

Miss Katherine Ludington, of Lyme, Conn., first vice president of the league, led the strong opposition, contending that the convention should not put the league "into the vanguard" unless they are willing to pay the cost of so "highly specific" a measure which should, she said, have further "thinking through."

Supporting her, Mrs. Richard Edwards, of Peru, Ind., asked if the league knew all the ramifications of the cruiser question.

Mrs. Richards said she "would shed the last drop of her blood for reduction of armament," but that the league had a record for accurate information and the multiplicity and confusion of naval statistics made intelligent opposition difficult. She, therefore, argued for further study before passage of such a "blanket measure."

National Honor Roll of 71.

But all that was laid aside tonight, in honor of the 19 present members of that national honor roll of 71, which brought to the league a $110,887 foundation fund.

There were to have been 20 here, and the absent one, Carrie Chapman Catt, 72, stalwart leader down through the years, made a very empty spot, even in a party of 800. One by one, giving each one minute to speak, Mrs. Sophonisba Breckinridge, of Louisville, herself a sister-in-law of an honor roll member, the late Mrs. Madeline McDowell Breckinridge, introduced the nineteen—Miss Katherine Ludington, Lyme, Conn.; Miss Caroline Ruutz-Rees, Greenwich, Conn.; Mrs. Bell Brotherton, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. James G. Macpherson, of Saginaw, Mich., and Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. H. G. Harrison, of Minneapolis, Minn.; Miss Isabel Lawrence, of St. Cloud, Minn.; Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, of Joplin, Mo.; Mrs. George Gellhorn, of St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Grace Abbott, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Raymond Brown, New York City; Mrs. Florence Kelley, New York City; Miss Elizabeth J. Hauser, of Girard, Ohio; Miss Belle Sherwin, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Guilford Dudley, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. George M. Milton, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dr. Harriet B. Jones, of Glendale, W. Va., and Mrs. Ben V. Hooper, of Oshkosh, Wis.

Senator Joe Robinson Will Seek Reelection

Little Rock, Ark., May 2 (A.P.).—Senator Joe T. Robinson's corrupt practice pledge as a candidate for renomination in the August Democratic primary was received at the Secretary of State's office today from Washington. Receipt of the pledge was the first definite information that the minority leader in the Senate, would seek reelection although it had been generally expected he would run.

He will be opposed in the primary by Tom. W. Campbell, of Little Rock, former chairman of the Democratic State central committee. Mr. Campbell filed his pledge several days ago as Senator Robinson's first primary opponent since 1918.

Lake Steamer Aground; Rescue Attempt Fails

Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, May 2 (A.P.).—Hard aground on a shoal a quarter mile north of Parisienne Island Light, and with a storm sweeping Lake Superior, the steamer Munising, of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., was the object of anxiety today in shipping circles. Two other ore carriers and a lighter went to the aid of Munising when she went aground this morning, but reported they were unable to get close to her. The crew of the Munising was believed still aboard. The storm sweeping the lake was of almost gale proportions and had stopped navigation.

GANDHI GIVES TERMS FOR BOMBAY MARCH

Chief Announces Conditions Under Which He Would Move on City.

ARREST STILL EXPECTED

Bombay, India, May 2 (A.P.).—While Mahatma Gandhi was making known today the conditions under which he will agree to lead his civil resistance campaign into the City of Bombay, all India awaited tensely the arrest of "the Holy Man," which usually well informed persons continued to insist must occur before another day has elapsed.

Conditions which the venerable leader announced he would exact from his followers as the price for continuing into the city were printed today by the "Bombay Congress Bulletin," an unregistered sheet published daily by the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee.

The conditions comprise: Observance of complete discipline, a permanent pledge to wear handspun khaddar and the actual spinning with "takli," a miniature spinning wheel, for one hour daily.

"If Bombay produces 100,000 such men," the manifesto of Mahatma Gandhi concludes, "I should lead them without the slightest hesitation."

Commenting on this pronouncement, the Congress Bulletin, under the heading, "The Call of Mother India," says: "The number of Satyagrahis registered up to today at the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee quarters is 2,443. The Mahatma wants 100,000."

There was little news from other centers. The only news received regarding the Peshawar area, toward which anxious eyes have been turned, is that it is understood Sir Horatio Bolton, chief of British commissioners in India, is returning from the northwest frontier province to England tomorrow owing to ill health and that S. E. Pears, President of Mysore, will take his place.

BUSINESS SHOULD HELP.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has voted in favor of emasculating the farm relief program. On the ground that the agricultural marketing act has "imposed unbearable hardships upon business enterprises" it seeks repeal of that part of the act which authorizes use of Federal funds for market stabilization. Use of Government money is one of the chief incentives to induce farmers to join the cooperative movement and the principal means of gaining control of agricultural markets. The proposed modification would be a severe blow to the administration's program. Inasmuch as the chamber voted to call a conference to study the agricultural situation and make definite recommendations its criticism is somewhat premature.

Business is not inimical to agriculture. The Chamber of Commerce has at various times approved the principle of cooperative marketing. In the current debate Julius H. Barnes, outstanding champion of the business viewpoint, declared that the chamber was "committed to put agriculture on sound lines." Business leaders realize that their own success is measured, to some extent, by the prosperity of agriculture. But they want the rehabilitation to be brought about in a way that will not encroach upon their own fields of activity.

The Farm Board is accused of flouting economic law, and of putting the Government into competition with private enterprise. This, the commercial leaders contend, will not achieve the stability at which the board aims, but will lead to unsettlement and distress in business.

On the other hand, Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, stoutly deny that they are attempting to fix prices or to socialize agriculture. The board does not claim to be infallible. It admits that mistakes have been made, and that the effort to stabilize wheat prices may be in this list. But it insists that the experiment go on until the farmer is established on a sound basis—until he is able to compete on an equal footing with other organized groups of the current economic order.

The Government entered the field of agricultural marketing only after it was apparent that the American farmer had no hope of relief from any other source. Congress did not contemplate that the Government should compete with private enterprise, but that it should stimulate organization and cooperative effort among the farmers so that they would be in a better position to control their production and marketing. The nature of agriculture makes organization difficult. A guiding hand is necessary to enable the farmer to apply modern methods to his industry. In attempting to furnish that guiding hand, the Government can not justly be accused of socializing industry.

Since the farmer has never controlled his markets, this attempt to give him that economic advantage means an encroachment upon agencies already established for that purpose. It should have been apparent when the act was passed that a struggle between marketing agencies and the new cooperatives would ensue. The fact that the inevitable is now taking place does not justify business interests in trying to upset the agricultural marketing act unless they have something better to offer.

Coming just as the Farm Board begins to function, the attack is untimely. Is not business willing to give the Government a chance to see what it can do toward restoration of agricultural prosperity? If the farmer can gain his previous status in the economic system, commerce and industry stand to gain through expansion of their markets. It would seem the part of wisdom for organized business to cooperate in this movement, to accept the new order and facilitate the readjustments that are necessary. Experience of the next few years will teach the farmer and the business man many things. With cooperation, obvious weaknesses of the Government's plan can be eliminated. But to overthrow the agricultural program while it is in the experimental stage would be a severe blow to the farmer and a boomerang to industry and commerce.

AN ECONOMIC STUDY.

"The whole range of our experience from this boom and slump," said President Hoover in his message to business and industry of the Nation, "should be placed under accurate examination with a view to broad determination of what can be done to achieve greater stability for the future." For this purpose the President intimates that he will appoint a committee of business men, economists, farm and labor leaders as soon as the country has emerged further from the current depression.

This plan to relieve the American economic system of disastrous cycles of prosperity and depression arises from the success of the conference President Hoover called last November. It is impossible to know the aggregate influence this conference had on the situation, but every one agrees that it was the outstanding factor in turning back the tide of despair and uncertainty which was let loose by the stock market crash. The achievement naturally leads to a movement for prevention as well as cure of any psychological contagion that in the future may threaten economic stability.

The Government does not hold a panacea for unemployment, business failures, poverty and distress which follow in the wake of depression cycles. President Hoover wisely conceives it to be the function of business and industry to deal in a cooperative way with these problems. "In this field of cooperative action outside of Government lies the hope of intelligent information and wise planning," he said. "The Government can be helpful in emergency, it can be helpful to secure and spread information. Such action, however, as may be developed must adhere steadfastly to the very bones of our economic system, which are the framework of progress; and that progress must come from individual initiative."

The Government can make valuable contributions through its leadership and its cooperation with private enterprise in this undertaking. But to be effective the stabilization movement must be woven into the very fabric of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor. By all means let the Government sponsor such a study, and let it be placed in the hands of practical men who can thereafter apply their recommendations to every field of economic endeavor. The President's plan should command the whole-hearted support of every one who has the interests of capital, labor and the consuming public at heart.

LAWMAKERS, TAKE NOTICE.

The fire and subsequent rioting at Ohio State Penitentiary resulted, as was perhaps inevitable, in a hysterical demand on the part of citizens of that State for the removal of Warden Thomas. More than 300 men were burned to death in the fire. It was charged that had the guards acted more promptly in the emergency this terrible loss of life would have been averted. But Gov. Cooper stood firm. "We could not give in to the convict ultimatum that the warden be removed," he said, "because to have done so would have meant that in a short time we would have been faced with another mutiny and fresh demands for a new warden." The wisdom of the course pursued by the governor is now apparent. The rebellion has been put down and the convicts are slowly going back to work.

Gov. Cooper faced an alarming emergency with admirable courage. Calling in the national guardsmen under command of Col. Robert Haubrich, he ordered that the rebels be treated humanely but firmly. The guardsmen emplaced weapons, and the show of arms impressed the convicts with the fact that the State of Ohio could not be successfully defied. For more than a week they sullenly refused to submit to discipline, but ultimately their spirit was broken. This week Gov. Cooper issued a statement, saying in part:

> Little or nothing has been done to improve the penal institutions in our State for seventeen years. Every session of the General Assembly has placed new laws on the statute books and increased the penalties for crimes, but each one has been backward about appropriations to care for the increased prison population that naturally results. So long as we have to put up with inadequate housing facilities, inadequate employment, inadequate supervision and similar consequences of neglect, we will have the danger of riots, jail breaks and mutinies. When those conditions are cured the crisis will have passed.

Gov. Cooper's statement epitomizes the so-called prison problem. Riots and disturbances are surface manifestations of a disease that arises from the increase of laws, coupled with the failure of Legislatures to make provision for the care of additional prisoners. If the prison problem is to be solved it will have to be attacked at the root. The root is the lawmaking body.

MR. MORROW'S POSITION.

For the moment the political spotlight is turned on Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, of Mexico. It has been understood that on the return of Mr. Morrow from the London conference he would be appointed to succeed Senator David Baird, of New Jersey. Senator Baird is ready to resign and Gov. Larson is ready to hand the toga to Mr. Morrow. But doubt has arisen as to whether he is ready to receive it.

On one hand it is reported that Mr. Morrow will return to Mexico for a time. Another rumor says he will go immediately to New Jersey and start his campaign without taking the proffered seat in the Senate. Again, he may take the senatorial appointment and risk his chances on the outcome. Convincing political reasons could be advanced to show why Mr. Morrow should do all of these things, and equally good reasons why he should refrain from doing any of them.

The principal objection to entering the Senate immediately seems to be that he might have to vote on the tariff. Some of his friends feel that that would bring him unnecessary opposition. On the other hand, it is understood that the administration desires the assistance of Mr. Morrow in ratification of the naval treaty. Of course, he could avoid this difficulty by returning to Mexico, but his opponent for the nomination, Senator Frelinghuysen, is becoming more formidable every day.

To make things worse, Mr. Morrow must take some stand on prohibition. New Jersey is wet. The administration, which he wishes to support, is dry, and the fate of straddling candidates is well known. Dodging entangling issues is part of the business of every political candidate. But what can a man do in such a combination of circumstances? A good share of the public is still naive enough to wonder why Ambassador Morrow and all other would-be public servants in his plight do not stake their chances on what they honestly believe, without so much pother about what is the rage of the hour.

The Canadian National Railway having solved the problem of telephonic connection with moving trains, the day may come when pushing the button in one's berth will cause something or other to happen.

John D. Rockefeller gets a tax refund of $356,000. Maybe if he'd known it was coming he wouldn't have been forced to pass out nickels instead of dimes on Easter.

Possibly the Senate wants candidates for the Supreme Court to state their platform when they accept the nomination.

CORONA CONUNDRUM

From the Christian Science Monitor

Ask an astronomer to explain the mysteries of curved space and he will give you a precise answer. Ask him to disclose the secrets of spectroscopic parallaxes and he will delight you with diagrams. But ask the simple query: What is the brilliant corona that is visible only when the sun is in total eclipse? "Ah—ah—," he will say, "you see—that is—we——"

For the truth of the matter is, he doesn't quite know. He can make some excellent guesses, but guesses are not completely satisfying to astronomical science. And so he packed up his spectroscopes, his telescopes, his photometers and his gadgets and took them out to the Pacific Coast, there to bask for a fleeting second in the shadow of the moon that swept in from the sea.

The total solar eclipse of April 28 was unusually accessible. Often astronomers have to chase an eclipse to the South Sea Islands, the deserts of Africa and other out-of-the-way places. But this time its path swept northeast across the United States and Canada with its totality extending roughly from San Francisco Bay to Butte, Mont. But it made up for this by being comparatively brief. The longest that any one observer could see the moon completely covering the sun was about one and three-tenths seconds. On this account the eclipse contributed little to the study of the corona. But the astronomers pursued their other researches under virtually ideal conditions, and successful aerial photographs were made from planes flying at altitudes of from two to nearly four miles above the earth.

It will be many weeks before the data thus gained will be reduced to a basis where they can share in unraveling the sun's secrets. The puzzle of the corona still persists. Among the astronomer's guesses is that this circle of light results from recombination of disrupted atoms thrown out from the sun at high speeds. Another guess is that some form of solar radiation activates free particles in space. Still another guess is that it is a sort of electric glow. Whatever it may be, the corona never takes the same size or shape that it had during a previous eclipse. This leads the astronomer to wonder if it may not hold the clue to variations in the energy and heat emitted by the sun.

If this is found to be the case, the astronomer may have grasped the key to problems somewhat closer to the comprehension of the layman. He may explain the cause of successions of ice ages and warmer periods and even aid long-range forecasts of general weather conditions.

And yet the corona is only one of the factors in a solar eclipse that is of astronomical importance. These range from the opportunity to check the variations in the orbit of the moon to the testing of the Einstein theory that rays of light from the stars are bent as they pass the sun. The astronomer's problems belong not to a single age but to the centuries. Questions which this year's eclipse leaves unanswered may be solved by succeeding ones. Years bother the astronomer not at all. Already he is looking forward to the next total eclipse to be visible in the United States.

"THE FEDERAL CITY."

It may not be of great import to the people of the United States, says the Boston Transcript, yet it is interesting to know that Congress contemplates making the District of Columbia what it was when George Washington modestly termed it "The Federal City." The District as originally laid out and accepted by the Government was a tract of "ten miles square," and it then extended across the Potomac River into Virginia. Along in the forties, however, when it seemed that the National Capital never could grow to crowd its existing boundaries, the Virginia tract was ceded back to that State; and now the District of Columbia is too small to house conveniently all the persons who must reside within it, and Senator Capper, of Kansas, has introduced a bill which would take from Virginia the territory which pieced out the "ten miles square" and thus restore the Federal City to its original dimensions. The Commonwealth of Virginia may not be willing to lose the strip along the Potomac incorporated in the original plan, but the residents of that terrain are eager that it should be restored, and Senator Capper, who is chairman of the committee on the District of Columbia, is reported as believing that the next Congress will vote to take back the Virginia parcel.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE DOG PROBLEM.

Because a dog may run away
Because a dog may die,
Because it tears a rug in play
Are not good reasons why
A little girl should lonely be
And sob herself to sleep,
And wonder every day why she Can't have a dog to keep.

Oh, we have tried it o'er and o'er;
The first cute puppy died,
And Janet, for a week or more,
Was sad and teary-eyed.
Another dog tore up our shoes,
A third one ran away,
But are these reasons to refuse
The dog she wants today?

A dog is such a dreadful care,
More so, if finely bred.
You can't go wandering anywhere
Unless you know he's fed,
And always there is bitter woe
When dogs are killed or stray,
But still in spite of this I know
She wants a dog today.

And so once more we've talked it out
With reasons con and pro;
The care and grief they bring about
Too well we grownups know.
But still, despite the hurt and ache
And ruin dogs have wrought,
Today for little Janet's sake
Another pup I've bought.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

Yesterday you told me that two girls of your acquaintance had developed symptoms of swell head—one because her father held a public office and the other because of her father's wealth.

You seemed amused and yet resentful, as all sensible people do in such cases; but it isn't probable that you analyzed your reaction or searched for the cause of it, and perhaps I'd better do that to put you on your guard.

If the father of one girl held the highest office in the land and the father of the other possessed more millions than he could count, the girls could feel as important as they now do and yet neither amuse nor offend you.

Isn't that true?

As it is, one girl is proud because less than five thousand voters who knew her father only by sight selected him from a group of fourth-rate candidates to fill an insignificant office, and the other is equally proud because her father cheated and tricked his neighbors and thus contrived to accumulate a "fortune" that wouldn't buy one front foot on Park avenue, New York.

The girls don't make any such analysis of the material their vanity feeds on, but you do—perhaps unconsciously—and that explains your irritation.

In plain American, they give you a pain because they are stuck up without having any reason to be.

So far, so good; but vanity afflicts us all and a bug in your ear will do no harm.

Pride is a good thing. In fact, a decent pride is essential to success and happiness.

Family pride, if it it justified by the facts, is a possession of untold value, for it stiffens the backbone in time of trial and provides a mark to shoot at and a standard to live up to when you are tempted to compromise with the devil.

But being proud of the wrong things is like trying to make yourself respectable by using the wrong standard.

If you had a rich dad you would have no reason to be proud, for many mediocre and crooked men get rich.

If your dad held a high office, that alone would not justify pride, for offices are obtained by dishonorable means and they can't confer honor if men without honor have held them.

If you had a famous dad, you still would have no cause for swell head, for fame is won by unworthy men and may last only for a day.

In short, nothing justifies family pride except honor and intelligence and service and a fine high standard that scorns things unclean and people with that background never have anything as foolish as swell head. Love,

DAD.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

"I have no flask on me," insisted one of the men taken in the recent New York roundup of alleged flask-carriers.

"I know," replied one of the agents, "but you look like the sort of man who would carry a flask if you had one."

When Admiral Byrd finally reaches America it may be a question whether his lectures will come under the heading of modern travel or ancient history.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Patriotic Senators Silent While "Bolshevists" Strike at Integrity of the Supreme Court.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What ails patriotic senators of both parties, that they sit in silence in the Senate in face of the assaults that are being made upon the administration and the Supreme Court—a coordinate department of the Government—by the bolshevists of that body? One would think they were suffering from lockjaw. It would require very little ability and only a minimum of research to expose the emptiness of Borah's speech of opposition to the confirmation of Judge Parker; and that the judge is only a red herring being drawn across the trail to conceal the real purpose of these "wild jackasses" of the great open spaces, which is to intimidate the Supreme Court and subordinate it to their communistic views and opinions.

No more insidious or sinister attack has ever been made upon our institutions. It should be resented and resisted by every one who has any regard for our individual liberties and property rights.

Strike down the integrity and independence of our judiciary, and nothing will remain for the protection of our constitutional rights and the preservation of our institutions as conceived by the fathers and sanctified by the blood and sacrifices of our revolutionary patriots and those who made the last supreme offering in the Civil War to perpetuate the Union.

Bumper Crop of Home Runs Will Pep Up Game as Well as the Public.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The batting orgy of the Philadelphia Athletics with five home runs—Bishop 2, Foxx 2, Simmons 1—in defeating Detroit 19 to 2, seems to fortify my guess that this is to be a home-run year. In line with what I have said regarding the psychology of the home run in pepping up game and players, I think this will be a good thing, taking into consideration the great mass of baseball addicts.

There is a school of fans whose liking is for close games with low scores. But baseball is the national game and its technique should be developed to suit the general public. There are a select few who, above everything else, like flawless fielding. Another few enjoy nothing better than hitless pitching. But most of us do not think we get our money's worth without more than a modicum of hits. Undoubtedly a bumper crop of home runs this season will help the game as a sport as well as financially. Crafty pitching, clean fielding and heroic clouting are the three essentials of an ideal game of baseball.

Gen. Hoxie's Old Friends in Iowa City Lament His Death.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Concerning the recent death in Miami, Fla., of Brig. Gen. Richard L. Hoxie, whom I have known for over 50 years, his quaint home here, in which he resided a few months each summer, still stands. Gen. Hoxie had been in the habit of coming here every summer.

A scholarly, well-read man, a gentleman through and through, were some of the characteristics of Gen. Hoxie. His first wife, Vinnie Ream, at the age of 13 became a famous sculptress. She gave the world its first statue of Lincoln located in the Nation's Capitol, as you know. The magazine, Woman's World, February, 1930, contains an excellent story regarding the late Mrs. Hoxie, by Freeman H. Hubbard. Gen. Hoxie built a studio for his wife at 1632 K street in your city. The second Mrs. Hoxie had visited here, residing in the old home each summer.

Gen. Hoxie attended the State University of Iowa from 1858 to 1861 and graduated in 1868 from the U. S. Military Academy. He will be greatly missed by old friends in Iowa City.

A Mother Commends Albert Stabler's Testimony at Senate Hearing.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Appearing before the Senate District committee, taking testimony on the Howell bone-dry bill for Washington, Albert Stabler, a member of the Society of Friends, in a statement free from the sophistry which, pro and con, colors much of our recent prohibition talk, said:

"I am appearing for children both born and unborn. Washington, under prohibition, is a million times better off than it was in the days of the saloon."

In the discussion of prohibition enforcement, what old-fashioned mothers and fathers of families think receives very little publicity, and on that account I think Mr. Stabler's words are well worth repeating here.

Suggests a Tax on Amusements to Provide Old Age Pension Fund.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The writer would suggest that an amusement tax of 2 to 5 cents be placed upon all tickets sold in this country, to be used for the specific purpose of old age pensions. This tax would harm no one and meet the conditions in our social structure that have made a gap between wealth and poverty a disgrace to this country, with its great wealth and bread lines. We must meet this or danger to the present order of government will come.

When Did Christopher Columbus Die? Monument at Union Station Has Wrong Date.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Did Christopher Columbus die in 1506, or in 1504, as the monument at the entrance to Union Station reads? Should the inscription engraved thereon be MDVI, or MDIV? The great discover went through so many hardships during his life that to kill him with a chisel two years before time seems an undeserved cruelty.

COLUMBIA now owns outright or has an interest in a station in practically every city except the Capital of the United States.

Why are they passing up the Capital?

Because the residents of Grosse Pointe, Mich., on the outskirts of Detroit, are for the most part wealthy and live in constant fear of their children being kidnaped, they have asked the Federal Radio Commission for permission to install a police radio service.

Listeners might tune in on WRC at 8 o'clock tonight to see if the gag is still applied to Walter Damrosch.

"THE Romance of American Industry," a new weekly series, which will bring many of the big men in commercial life before the microphone, will be inaugurated from Washington tonight (WMAL—7:15 o'clock) by A. E. Horst, president of the Associated General Contractors of America.

Fifteen trained Hartz Mountain canaries are to be heard tomorrow night (WMCA, between 7 and 8 o'clock).

In the first test of the New York antinoise ordinance, the proprietor of a music store in the Bronx charged with operating a "noisy" radio loud speaker pleaded guilty and paid $50 fine as an alternative to spending 30 days in jail.

The magistrate warned him that a second offense would bring a fine of $250 and three months in jail.

A $100,000 suit has been instituted by Mrs. Sophia Civoru against Mrs. Gertrude Berg in a disagreement over "The Rise of the Goldbergs" radio sketches. Mrs. Civoru told the court that Mrs. Berg furnished the ideas for the sketches which she developed but that the two were no longer working in harmony.

THAT Roxy is to supervise all N. B. C. programs is the latest from Broadway. His present theater contract has still a year to run and his salary is quoted at $150,000 per annum.

Paul Whiteman and orchestra whose last broadcast for the season is next Tuesday night, are supposed to have received $3,000 a week for their hour.

All right, says former Senator Frelinghuysen, if Dwight Morrow is going to make ten radio speeches to the Jersey pee-pul to try to talk himself into the senatorial nomination, I'll make twelve.

Which is pretty soft for Hollywood McCosker, manager of WOR, Newark, over which station the gentlemen are to wage their battle. That is, if they are paying Hollywood for their time.

AS a reason why Washington should have daylight saving, William G. Galliher, of 1010 Vermont avenue, offers "Amos 'n' Andy."

"The fact that a number of our cities, as well as sections of the country, have adopted daylight saving time places many Washingtonians at a very considerable disadvantage, and I, as well as a large number of my friends, are quite disturbed because of 'Amos 'n' Andy' coming on at 6 o'clock, our time," Mr. Galliher writes.

"It is not convenient for a great number of people here to be home at this hour, and I am suggesting, on behalf of my friends and myself, that your institution consider the advisability of promoting the idea of daylight saving time in Washington.

"I realize that this is a large question to deal with, but seriously or otherwise, there never has existed as much of a reason for its being considered as 'Amos 'n' Andy' furnishes. Sho! Sho!"

HAD not we inadvertently crammed the press notice into the west end of our mail box, said notice not coming to light until yesterday, there would have been considerably more in these columns about the May Day Child Health broadcasts.

The speaker today will be Mrs. Rowena Schmidt Carpenter, associate chief, Bureau of Home Economics. "Good Food Habits for Children" (WOL—10:30 a. m.). Dr. Joseph A. Murphy, chief medical examiner of public schools, will talk tomorrow on "Child Needs of the Community" over WRC at 6:30 p. m., cutting into the Capitol Theater program for ten minutes.

Here's hoping they don't switch something else in on us instead of Marilyn Miller in "Sally" tonight (WRC—7:30 o'clock), as they did with "The Captain of the Guard" last Saturday.

While looking for jobs for others, Heywood Broun connected up with a pretty good one for himself—a series of national broadcasts to be heard here over WMAL beginning next Saturday. Chic Sale has also just signed up for a summer series.

FROM the Voice of the Air:

Irate Fight Promoter (suddenly appearing before the prize fight audience and shaking his fist at the radio announcer):

"I'm bankrupt! There are only 150,000 people here—a $3,000,000 gate—and you did it."

Jane Interprets the Mode

Dinner hats have come back into the mode! And lovely and gracious are not even descriptive enough for them. (Dah-ray Designs).

Paris, May 2.

AT least we have the strength of mind to resist! Of course, opinions differ on this matter, but I personally have always contended that there are just certain things you can do with certain materials to make hats, and then hats do not take anywhere near the workmanship and art that shoes do, for instance.

Some do, to be sure, and those are the ones that clever women buy and try not to count the cost. But others, those little bonnet-like nothings that start at 500 francs ($20) well, they just take imagination and clever workmanship—and very good materials.

What if a beautiful satin and chiffon rose costs $5 or $6, or a feather fancy costs 20 and 30? They give their touch of elegance to what would otherwise have to be a rather simple hat.

It is my advice, then, to buy the more expensive and difficult-to-make hats, and never count the cost, but practice and achieve results with less expensive and dressier ones.

* * * *

In the interest of more and better hats we have been practicing and practicing lately—our studio has looked like a full-fledged modiste's for a week. All we were hoping was that charming Mme. Le Monier would not accidentally drop in for tea—oh, no, we weren't copying any of her hats, nothing like it—but we were achieving some very interesting results in models that looked every bit as expensive as some of hers.

You don't have to start a hat department in your home, because if you just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dah-ray Department of The Washington Post I'll send you the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make several of the season's smartest little dress and dinner hats all for $2 or $3 apiece. Remember your smart little expensive felt hat will no longer do for every occasion!

* * * *

Yes, you've guessed it—some of the hats we achieved are those illustrated today. After you send for the leaflet, rummage around in the attic and see if you can't restore some of mother's plumes and aigrets and feather pompoms—they're going to be worn this summer and they are expensive.

* * * *

Mode Primer.

Riding togs have not changed materially except that there is a general air of more informality when informality is in order. A soft felt hat or beret, for instance, may be worn in place of the tricorn, and open-throated crepe de chine blouse in place of the more formal four-in-hand or stock.

Riding suits of pastel colored shantung or linen for summer, although not new, are more generally worn than ever.

* * * *

Maggy Rouff features a great many purples and deep fuchias, and probably the most striking example is in a dressy afternoon suit of purple crepe marocain. The short and jaunty jacket ties in a scarf effect at the neck and when closed could be mistaken for a one-piece dress. But let the scarf be suddenly flung open and back—and would you believe it, a red and white check blouse bodly shows itself to view!

And tomorrow you should make it a point to look for Dare's weekly fashion letter in the big Sunday Washington Post.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

IF May 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

You will be confronted with unexpected difficulties and hindrances on this date. Much of the savor of life, however, would be gone if it were all always tranquil and held nothing but certainties. Character and poise will win the day for you.

The boy born this May 3rd will be a daredevil, a dogged trier, believing no task too hard to be accomplished. He will be born with the scout spirit, and will be manly and brave. The girl born this May 3rd will be sympathetic, generous and extremely effeminate.

Nature did not invest you with any spectacular traits—she gave you no outstanding talents and only a normal intellect. You are richly endowed, however, with some of the greatest of virtues—with courage, with patience, with cheerfulness, with sympathy and with generosity. There is a simplicity about your nature which is refreshing, and your cheerful courage and patience and stoical acceptance of life's troubles and even its tragedies is a worthy example to others. You have a wonderful kindness of heart, and you are actively helpful to others when they are in trouble. You are recklessly generous, often giving more than you can afford to spare, both of self and worldly possessions. You never allow your worldly possessions to get a hold over you so that they possess you instead of you possessing them. You are poor in spirit and lowly in mind, but never mean. You do good from principle and because it gives you pleasure to do so—not for any thanks or other returns.

People interest you much more than science or figures, and your work should be that of a humanitarian. It is easy for you to be a good Samaritan. You are broad-minded, constructively critical, diplomatic, and sincere. The sunshine and love in your nature create an atmosphere about you into which others want to come. You are able to bring out the inborn beauty which can be found in others—your influence is good.

Successful people born May 3—

1—Lot M. Morrill, Secretary of Treasury under Grant.
2—William L. Wilson—Author of Wilson Tariff Bill.
3—Wilbur O. Atwater—Chemist.
4—Jacob A. Riis—Reformer.
5—Julia Arthur—Actress.
6—William Proctor — Pharmacist and educator.

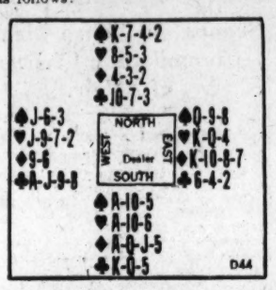
WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

Today's hand illustrates one or two points which a beginner should understand. South was the Declarer playing No Trump; at Contract it would be three No Trumps, at Auction one. The cards were distributed as follows:



When the hand was played, West started by leading the Eight of Clubs; dummy played the Trey, East the Deuce and South false-carded by winning with the King. Dummy was put in with the King of Spades to lead a Diamond for a successful finesse, and this was followed by the lead of the Ace of Diamonds. The Declarer then tried to knock the adverse Diamonds together, but failed; East won two Diamond tricks and led a Club through South's remaining Queen-Five and toward West's Ace-Jack, so it was easy for West to take three Club tricks. This made a total of five tricks for the adversaries and four for the Declarer; and after that Declarer's two major Aces were his only winning cards; so he totaled six tricks—down three at Contract, one at Auction.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Declarer's first error was in not playing the Ten of Clubs from dummy on the first trick. The lead of the Eight showed Declarer that the leader had all the higher outstanding Clubs (eight from eleven leaves three and there were three higher in dummy and in closed hand). Winning the trick with the Ten in dummy insured a subsequent Club trick for the Declarer and gave dummy an immediate and much needed lead.

To trick 2 a Diamond should have been led for a successful finesse; and then closed hand should have led a small Spade, dummy playing a small Spade also. The object would be to establish a thirteenth Spade in dummy while the King was there as an entry in case the adverse Spades were divided 3-3. This trick would be won by East, who would lead a Club which West would allow South to win. South then would lead the Ace and another Spade to find out whether he would obtain the lucky Spade break; and when both the adverse Spades dropped on North's King, North would cash his thirteenth Spade and lead a Diamond for a second successful Diamond finesse. Declarer would fail to drop all the adverse Diamonds, but nevertheless he would take three Spades, one Heart, three Diamonds and two Clubs—three more tricks than by the play above described—and consequently would go game.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

WILL you please print in your column just how and under what conditions althea seed should be planted? We brought some from England last year and I have no idea what they are like or under what conditions they grow.

MRS. THOMAS T.

The althea (Rose of Sharon) is a flowering shrub having a white, pink or deep red flower. Sow the seed in good, rich soil in some sunny spot in your garden and give it the same treatment you would give any shrub. It should be trimmed the second year. It is a rapid grower and does well under most adverse conditions.

I have a rubber plant. The leaves are getting yellow and have holes in them. There are no insects of any kind on the leaves. Do you think the worms in the earth would cause this? Shall I remove all the leaves or shall I cut the plant back? Also tell me, please, how to get rid of worms in the soil about my plants.

MISS PATTEY H. L.

Better repot your rubber plant, keeping it in the open all summer. Limewater poured over the soil will cause worms to depart. But usually the worms in an open border are an advantage, as they keep the soil open.

Please tell me if there is any special attention which my roses require at this time. I followed your advice about the early treatment, and I am thankful to say that so far the bushes look very well. HARRIET McM.

Am glad your roses seem to be doing so well; they should now be in leaf. Give a thorough protective treatment of tobacco dust to control aphis. Also dust the plants with Massey dust (nine parts dusting sulphur with one part of dry powdered lead arsenate).

Please tell me if the inclosed leaves are weeds; also, what can be done to make a geranium bloom. I have a geranium that I bought before Christmas and since the flowers died at that time it has never bloomed; it seems to be all leaves. I have it near a wooden fence, where it gets the morning sun, and it seems very healthy. Also, when is the best time to put manure about a rambler rosebush. This is its second year. It has seven buds on it now. I am trying very hard to make it grow, as I am very fond of rose bushes.

MRS. JOSEPH C. R.

The leaves you sent me were from sorrel — a low-growing, interesting weed. A geranium must never be planted in too-rich soil. From the description you give, your plant is evidently being overfed. Better remove it from the fence, plant it in a rather sandy loam and in strong sun and water it only every other day. Too much water and food produce leaves and few, if any, flowers. Incorporate some well-rotted manure at this time with the soil in which your rambler is growing.

Please tell me the name of the inclosed branch which I picked as I came across the mountains last week. One old farmer tells me it is pine, andother that it is native spruce.

MR. JAMES K. L.

The branch or twig you inclosed was from the hemlock spruce.

Please tell me whether speedwell likes a moist soil. Is this the same plant as veronica?

MRS. EARL O. L.

Yes, speedwell and veronica are the same plant. This variety prefers a moist soil. Although it will grow in poor soil, bonemeal will increase the size of the flowers. Set the plant in full sun, if possible, although some varieties will grow in partial shade.

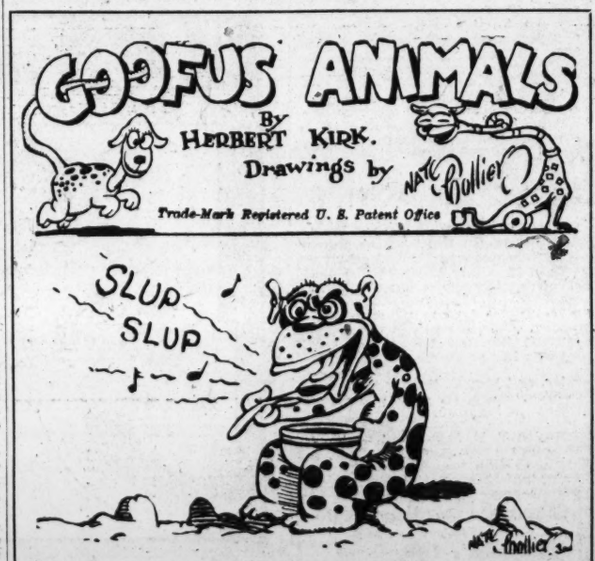
All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Mrs. Atlas' Monument to Be Unveiled.

A monument to the memory of Mrs. Sadie Steiner Atlas, wife of Benjamin Atlas, will be unveiled at the Adas Israel Cemetery in Anacostia at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rabbis J. T. Loeb and Louis Novick will officiate. Mrs. Atlas died a year ago.



The Goofus Mood

(Suggested by B. H., Cleveland, O.)

Don't ever pet the Goofus Mood
And never try to feed him.
The reason is, he is so crude
Politeness doesn't please him.
He always eats his soup out loud
Which isn't done when in a crowd!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"A Home Man."

PATTY has a heavy problem when what she wants is a "heavy date." How would you advise Patty? Our method would be drastic. Is there a milder way? Patty will tell you all about it:

"He comes, and he comes, and he sits. There are four wonderful movie houses within walking distance, but we sit. There are cute restaurants where you can get a nice dinner for a dollar. But we just sit. Now I am not in love with him, and at this rate never will be, for the whole family is getting sick of the sight of him and nagging me to death. What can a girl do with a man who waits till 8:30 to call up and suggest coming over?"

What would you do? Personally we feel that where two people are not in love, a man is overburdened with conceit who comes even a third time to call on a girl without suggesting something more stimulating than his own presence by way of whoopee. If he is still living in the days when the mere fact that a man singled out a girl for "attention" was supposed to supply all the thrill any good girl asked of life, then he should wake up and know that those days have gone forever. In that age of innocence the neighbors demanded that the "courting" be done right on the home grounds, otherwise how could they keep up with events.

But now the youth who believes it enough that a man call and call and call till the family and the girl take action, deserves to be awakened out of his dream of self-content with a jolt. A home man is a blessing after the wedding but beforehand he is a sore trial. We knew one of this breed once who would sit and look soulful from 8:30 to 1 a. m. He did have one saving grace. He could make the most wonderful coffee. But a man has got to have a stronger defense than that, to escape justice. He had not. So justice was swift and sure. One part of his sad farewell stated that a woman should feel complimented when a man asked nothing more than to sit in her presence. Left over from the age of innocence. Right now it isn't what the "man asks," it's what the woman asks? And it's a rare woman today who asks nothing more than a periodic ring at her door bell and a dull evening with some dull soul who likes to sit around.

What would you do in Patty's place? Understand this is not a case of a young man who has taken Patty out and is saving up for the next time. No sir. This is just one of those things. And he has picked Patty to sit around with. Thrilling for him no doubt, but how about Patty? And how about these self-satisfied Percys who believe their personality plus is enough to satisfy the most exacting.

What makes a man feel that a girl will enjoy evening after evening of his undiluted society? Is it conceit, or just downright innocence?

Patty wants to known and so do we all of us. Speak up, boys, what's the answer.

CUSTARD CORN CAKE.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

2 eggs
1 cup of sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup of sour milk
1 cup of sweet milk
1½ cups corn meal
½ cup wheat flour
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup of cream

Mix all the ingredients but the cream and butter as directed for sour milk corn bread. Melt the butter in a deep pan, using plenty on the sides. Pour in the batter, add (without stirring) a cup of cream, and bake 20 or 30 minutes. When cooked, there should be a layer of custard on top of the cake or small bits of custard distributed through it.

For economy's sake milk may be used instead of cream in this recipe. This serves six persons.

Teacher Cleared In Whipping Case

Parents of 6-Year-Old Girl Brought Charges of Assault.

Elyria, Ohio, May 2 (A.P.).—Mrs. Myrta Bradley, 22, teacher in a district school near here, was acquitted by a jury here today of a charge of assault and battery which was filed against her because she whipped 6-year-old Mary Gerhartinger with a wooden paddle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Gerhartinger, parents of the child, who brought the charges, said Mary was "covered" with bruises and was bleeding at the mouth when she returned from school several weeks ago after the whipping. Doctors testified they found injuries on the child's body.

Mrs. Bradley admitted whipping the child, but said it was not unnecessarily severe and that it was justified. Several other school children testified in her behalf and said Mary was not whipped hard.

LINDBERGH RETURNS FROM AIR MAIL TRIP

Colonel Brings 211 Pounds of Postal Matter From Buenos Aires.

TARDY THREE MINUTES

Miami, Fla., May 2 (A.P.).—Completing his round trip inaugurating seven-day air mail service between the Americas, Col. Charles Lindbergh arrived here at 5:03 p. m., Eastern standard time, after an 899-mile flight today from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua. He carried 211 pounds of air mail bound from Buenos Aires to points in the United States.

He was three minutes behind schedule on landing at Pan-American Airport here. He was held back by an east cross-wind despite an early departure from Havana.

Average speed for today's flight, which started at 5:55 a. m., Eastern standard time, was 97 miles an hour. Col. Lindbergh and Basil Roe, copilot, averaged 92 miles an hour from Puerto Cabezas to Havana, a water flight of 638 miles across the Caribbean Sea, and had an average speed of 110 miles an hour from Havana to Miami, northern terminus of Pan-American Airways, Inc.

The colonel, completing his third inauguration of air mail service between the Americas' brought another novelty into his record of accomplishments as he sat at the plane's radio and tapped out his own location message to the Pan-American Airways radio control station here. The message was sent from a point approximately 280 miles south of Havanna and 60 miles west of Grand Cayman.

The plane left Puerto Cabezas 1 hour and 5 minutes before the scheduled 7 o'clock time of departure today.

Col. Lindbergh changed places with copilot Roe to chart his locations during the day, while Radio Operator B. A. Denicke maintained constant radio communication with the Pan-American Station here.

The transatlantic flier landed at Havana at 12:50 p. m., Eastern standard time, and departed after a brief halt for refueling and lunch.

Keeping Posted— On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

There is a provision in the District of Columbia traffic code that prohibits turning about in a street if the car must be backed to make the turn.

The reason for this is clear enough. If the turn can be made in one forward movement, there is less likelihood of interfering with traffic. If the car must be backed, it may necessitate maneuvering that will hold up traffic in both directions.

Example: A driver is in the middle of the block in a narrow street, and decides to go back the way he came. From experience, he should be able to tell if he can turn around without having to back. If backing is necessary, he must drive around the block.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

So potent is the spell cast over this column by the opulence of Paul Whiteman's "King of Jazz" revue, at the Rialto, its originality and its superb handling of colors and lights, that there is apt to be chatter about it here for days to come. Don't say I didn't warn you.

One thing that impressed me particularly was John Murray Anderson's shrewdness in adopting the same method in staging his musical numbers that Ferdie Grofe has pursued for years in scoring numbers for the Whiteman Band. I mean he has tossed the lead all over the place, from singer to band, to dancers, to ensembles, to band again, and, finally, back to where it started. The successive dominance of every choir in the orchestra has been the principal superiority of all of the Whiteman orchestrations prepared by Grofe. Anderson has done the same thing with another medium. Watch the "Bench in the Park" number, or John Boles' "Monterey" to see what I mean.

Another deft touch is in the handling of the lighting. Anderson gets the effect of three tones where every one else has been content with one. For example, in shooting the Russell Markert dancers the interminable line of shapely legs is, of course, in flesh tint. But this canny director does not stop there. Behind the legs he throws a flood of ruddier hues of the same color and then across the legs, from another angle, he projects a white baby spot to edge the contours with high lights. The result is a multiplied color effect that no one before him has ever bothered to achieve.

And, another thing, no time is wasted on the black-out skits. There are a lot of them, and each goes like a streak of lightn.ng, so don't make the mistake I did and look away from the screen thinking you have plenty of time.

That error of judgment is why I shall have to go again—goody, goody!

But lest you erroneously reach a false conclusion that there is only one picture in town this new week, it might be well to direct your notice to the fact that at the Columbia, Norma Shearer brings to the screen what is unanimously proclaimed, by all who have seen it, her most delightful picture. Bearing still in memory the many fascinating qualities of such of her earlier successes as "Trelawney of the Wells," "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," this fulsomeness is proportionately harder to take.

Still, there is the original basis of the story to take into consideration, if you feel, with me, that it would be next to impossible for Miss Shearer to be that much better than she already has been. It is an adaptation of Ursula Parrott's novel of "Ex-Wife." The Will H. Hays organization at first refused to sanction the screening of the story, but subsequenty relented and it therefore is a pleasure to report that there is on view beginning today an entertainment that is described for me by an astute critic in whose pronouncements I have confidence, in these words:

"The picture has sex, is sophisticated, often racy, smart, charmingly enacted, beautifully mounted and well directed. Those who may not be so hot for Norma are very apt to change their minds after seeing this one."

Sex, sophisticated, racy? Why, Norma!

It won't add anything to the diverting qualities of "Hold Everything," at the Metropolitan—which I understand would be extremely difficult, at best—but Winnie Lightner, the star, and Helen Kane, the "Boop-boop-a-doop" girl who appeared in person at the Earle not so long ago, are just like that about each other. And separated or together, the life of the party.

Incidentally, preparatory to making this picture, Winnie put herself under the charge of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and worked off some 17 pounds or so going through the regular training routine of a prize fighter in his New York gym. Or so they tell me.

About that "King of Jazz," I meant to tell you that it might be well to attend the early performances. Thursday night at 9 o'clock the box-office line was clear down around the corner into G street.

Which is as it should be. If other Technicolor revues have been able to run three and four weeks, this one should keep going all summer.

But that's no reason why this particular column should!

Although having far passed my college yell days, and still being unused to public speaking, I have a feeling I could do both . . . filled, as I am, with the spirit of Spring . . . and Spring only.

Seems as if everybody has this same feeling, too. Why just the other day I saw a hard-boiled taxi driver fixing a baby carriage on the street . . . and he was singing to himself while doing it.

This, however, has nothing to do with the subject. Today I shall discuss shirt and necktie color schemes and their relation to men's suits. Such a gladsome array of shirts and ties have I seen at The Hecht Co.'s Men's Shops. The Stylist at the store gave me these three suggestions.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

PREVENTION OF PNEUMONIA.

THE prevention of pneumonia is making a little headway but not enough to satisfy. The pneumonia rate was at its peak in the last decade of the nineteenth century. Since the beginning of this one it has fallen slowly except for the waves associated with influenza.

On the other hand, the case for the cure of pneumonia is almost altogether disappointing. If we eliminate the very mild pneumonia which physicians sometimes diagnose today by skillful use of modern methods and stick to the conditions which old-time physicians called pneumonia, we find that the hazards of the disease have not changed much. It is hoped that the pneumonia story may be told in another key before many more pneumonia seasons have passed.

The reasons for the continuing high fatality rate of this disease belong in three groups. The bacteria which cause the disease are not well understood and producing a curative serum which will do more good than harm has not proved easy. The pneumonia microbe is not one germ, but is a group, and there are differences between the members of the group. The lungs are in a very exposed position and they are as defenseless as a dinosaur, and more than one airborne microbe can cause pneumonia. The laboratories engaged in finding a curative serum have a difficult job.

The second reason is the fact that the right side of the heart is not a strong muscle. It is apt to break down under the strain of pumping blood through solidified lungs.

The third reason lies in the need of the tissues for oxygen and the difficulty the blood has when much of the lung is solidified in picking up oxygen and in getting rid of its sewer gas. To remedy this, physicians have pneumonia patients inhale oxygen, the theory being that the blood can absorb a supply of this gas from a small, healthy lung area. But giving oxygen by means of a gas mask to a man very sick from pneumonia is not an easy matter. To get around this shortcoming, an oxygen chamber was devised. The patient lies in bed in this chamber breathing an atmosphere rich in oxygen, purified chemically, cleaned of dust, and kept at the right temperature and humidity. At first, the air was delivered by electric fans. The objection to this was the explosiveness of the oxygen-rich air.

To overcome this, Dr. A. L. Barach has invented a special oxygen chamber which he describes in the Modern Hospital. In this plan no fans or any other kind of power or lighting apparatus is used. The air is chilled by brine coils. Difference in temperature keeps air moving into and out of the room. The air is purified by chemicals and is washed clean. It is chilled and humidified.

BLISTER BETWEEN FINGERS.

Mrs. S. B. B. writes: Mrs. J. W. C. recently inquired about a cure for blisters between her fingers. I have been troubled the same way and when I keep my hands out of water the trouble ceases. She probably has a young baby and for the last six months has done the washing. Even dishwashing has caused it to my hands.

NATIONALS POUND OUT 17 HITS TO ROUT BROWNS, 13-5; STEVINSON CAPTURES GOLF TOURNAMENT ON 19TH HOLE

NICHOLSON BEATEN BY CITY CHAMPION IN THRILLING MATCH

Stevinson Carried to 22d Hole by Cox in Semifinals.

Nicholson Eliminates Peacock on 18th to Gain Finals.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

MILLER B. STEVINSON, of the Columbia Club and District amateur champion, yesterday won the invitation tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club, defeating Henry D. Nicholson, one of the younger members of the Washington Club, on the nineteenth hole of the final round.

If any golfer ever deserved to win a tournament, Stevinson was certainly entitled to the victory. He survived for the semifinals by defeating Harry G. Pitt, Manor, on the twentieth hole.

He reached the final round after being carried by William J. Cox, Beaver Dam, to the twenty-second hole, and then was forced into a nineteenhole battle to finally emerge triumphant. Sixty-one holes of strenuous struggling in three rounds preceded his final putt by which he carried off the club trophy.

As in all his other matches, Stevinson fought an uphill battle. Although he won the first hole with a par 4, he lost the second when Nicholson holed out in one putt after playing out of a trap, and the third when he drove two balls in succession out of bounds. Then he lost the fourth by missing his second and third shots, but reduced Nicholson's lead of 2 when, on the sixth hole, Nicholson was compelled to play out of a trap after his drive. With all the other holes in the first nine halved, Nicholson saving himself on the ninth by a fine recovery shot from the hillside which enabled him to hole out with one putt. Stevinson was still 1 down at the turn.

Nicholson Loses Tenth.

Nicholson overapproached the green on the tenth from a bad lie on the right of the green and lost the hole. The match was now square. Nicholson lost the eleventh by carelessly missing a putt of not over 20 inches, but made the match again all even when, on the thirteenth, Stevinson hooked his drive into a ditch. Then every hole was halved in par figures until the eighteenth was reached. On this hole Nicholson threw away his opportunity to win the match. He had driven far up the fairway, with an open shot to the green, but topped his second shot and failed to get home by nearly 100 yards. Stevinson, who had driven a longer ball, was penalized when the ball rolled down the sloping fairway and came to rest behind a tree. He played a fine right-to-left shot which carried the ball hole-high but not on the green and the hole was halved in 5s.

On the nineteenth hole Nicholson sliced his ball so far to the right that it stopped on the edge of the ditch which borders the eighteenth fairway. Stevinson, with an iron, skied his ball with a pull that carried it out of bounds. Instead of remaining out of bounds, the ball hit a hard surface and leaped into the air and came back safely within the boundary posts. Stevinson was thus enabled to reach the green with his second, Nicholson failing to get home. Stevinson won the hole and the match with a par 4.

22-Hole Match Feature.

The most extended struggle of the whole tournament was the 22-hole match between Stevinson and Cox in the semifinals. When they began to play their extra holes Cox hooked out of bounds with his drive, but walloped his second nearly to the green. Then he approached with his third and ran down a 20-footer for a 4, se-

Central Bows To Business By 20-15

10-Run Rally in 3d Clniches Series Contest for Stenogs.

4 Home Runs, 1 With Bases Loaded, in Wierd Battle.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

AMID windstorms, rainstorms, but most of all baseblt storms, Central High School Baseball Team was buried beneath a 20 to 15 score by the Business High Nine yesterday in the opening game for each team in the interhigh series at the Central Stadium. Business' victory, the first over the Blue and White on the diamond since 1927, came after a hectic afternoon, during which everything imaginable in the way of baseball was seen.

Three home runs, two of which were the longest ever seen on the Central field, were made by Bill Duryee, Albert Fratantuono and Milton Jacobson. Duryee and Fratantuono smacked the ball to the Eleventh street gate of the stadium in deep left-center field, but Jacobson's clout, coming with the bases loaded in the second inning, while not as long, was none the less worthy. Besides these blows, Spencer Chase contributed a double and a triple, while Loftus and Finley came through with three and two singles, respectively.

Garner Stars for Business In Relief Role.

Major credit for the Business triumph must be given to Jimmy Garner, midget pitcher, who went in the box in the third inning during an eight-run Central rally. After Business had forged ahead in its half of

Payne, Star Western Pitcher, Is Ineligible

A serious blow was dealt the championship hopes of Western High School's Baseball Team yesterday, when it was learned that Bill Payne, star pitcher of that nine and one of the outstanding hurlers in scholastic ranks, would be ineligible for further competition during the third advisory period which opens Monday. Payne was expected to hurl Western to victory in its remaining interhigh games, having easily defeated Tech in the opener last Tuesday, but was found deficient in studies.

that inning by scoring ten runs, after a shower had halted the game for five minutes, Garner never again permitted Central to get on even terms with its rival, although hit rather freely over the the remainder of the route.

Garner entered the box after Loftus and Silverman had been removed as a result of their wild streaks, no less than eight bases on balls being granted by this pair in the first two and two-thirds innfngs. Central made its eight runs in the third on two hits, six walks, two of which forced over runs, being instrumental in the scoring.

Twenty-nine hits were made by the two teams throughout the game, sixteen by the winners. Although making six errors, Business' players did not err during critical moments, in contrast to the miscues of Central's athletes which permitted several alien runs. Collela, in left field, messed up no less than three chances during his short stay in the game, each directly leading to the scoring of a run.

Shortstop's Play Record Halted After 1,102 Games.

Indians' Late Rally Beats Red Sox for 4th Straight.

BOSTON, May 2 (A.P.).—Cleveland won its fourth straight game today by scoring six runs in the last two innings to back the Red Sox, 8 to 3, in Boston's first East-West game of the season.

Joe Sewell's record for consecutive games played ended when he was forced to remain in bed today with a temperature of 102. Starting in 1920, Joe had played 1,102 consecutive games for Cleveland and was the only player given a chance to beat Everett Scott's mark of 1,307 games in a row.

Johnny Hodapp, who was hit on the head by a pitched ball in St. Louis earlier in the week, led the onslaught on Lisenbee and Huffing. Todt, of the Sox, hit a homer by Ferrell, the winning pitcher, in the second, with Regan on base.

Liska to Get Chance as Starter

Underhanded Hurler Faces Browns in Game Today.

Stewart Likely Choice of Killefer; Nats to Stand Pat.

ADOLPH LISKA, the young hurler with the underhanded snoots, will make his 1930 debut as a starter against the St. Louis Browns in the second game of the current set this afternoon. He probably will find Walter Stewart opposing him on the hill. Liska performed brilliantly for seven innings on April 22, when the Nats took a twelve-inning verdict over the Red Sox, but has not done quite so well on some of his other times out.

Manager Walter Johnson explains that the cause of some of his poorer efforts was due to the fact that he had been doing considerable pitching to batters and work in pepper games and was not ready. With this afternoon's starting assignment in mind, Liska has been allowed to take things easily the last day or so, and Johnson looks for him to turn in a victory, provided his mates give him any help from the tee.

Nats Likely to Stand Pat.

With Outfielder Jake Powell and Pitcher Don Savidge now with the New Haven Eastern Leaguers on option, the Nationals are practically set and will stand pat with the talent on hand except, possibly, in the case of Pitcher Carlos Moore. He was bought from the Birmingham Barons, part of the $20,000 purchase price being paid last winter, with the balance, $17,500, due June 1 in case the player is kept.

Myer and Rice Have Hit In Every Game to Date

Two of Manager Walter Johnson's athletes certainly have gotten off to a fine start this season, Buddie Myer and Sam Rice having hit safely at least once in every 1930 game in which they have played with the Nationals.

Myer yesterday brought his consecutive-game streak to fourteen, having played in every game so far, while Rice, who missed one contest due to a knee injury, has a record of thirteen games in a row in which he has hit at least once.

If the Nationals decide not to close the deal this year, they can send him back prior to the first of next month and will be given another opportunity of giving him the "once over" at the same terms next spring. Moore has shown a good curve and fair fielding and batting ability, but the fast one which he is said to possess has not been apparent. Should he develop the speed for which he was noted in Birmingham last year, he likely will be kept; otherwise he will be returned and probably be brought back.

A new decoration has been added to the walls of President Clark Griffith's office, it being a big hornets' nest. It came from Trainer Mike Martin's newly acquired farm in nearby Maryland and is the only thing which "Sir Mique" has been able to raise there so far.

Nats Stop Browns' Lead.

It would be quite refreshing for Washington fans were the Nationals to start a game now and then by blanking their opponents in the first frame. Yesterday was the fourth of the last five contests in which the enemy has scored at least one run in the opening session. A little longer and more strenuous warm-up by the starting pitcher might help some.

Catcher Muddy Ruel shamefully mistreated his boss in pregame batting practice yesterday. On almost successive drives with Johnson doing the pitching, the little catcher first shot one back at Walter's right ankle and then at the left. As a result, the Nat leader was putting his feet down most carefully while coaching at first during the game.

In contrast to a pitiful fielding exhibition by the Browns in the first frame yesterday when Melillo, O'Rourke and Blue made

HAPPY SCOT WINS PIMLICO NURSERY BY 4 LENGTHS

Up Is Outrun In Stake by Ross Colt

Equipoise, Favorite, Falls at Start, Unseating Workman.

Winner Breaks Track Record in Capturing Feature.

By J. B. SNODGRASS
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 2.—Twenty thousand race fans saw Samuel Ross' Happy Scot stamp himself one of the best 2-year-olds ever to win the Pimlico Nursery, which had its twenty-second renewal here today, when he stepped the four and one-half furlongs in 0:53 4-5, equaling the best previous time for the race made by Frank G back in 1922.

Happy Scot ridden by Jason Eaby, of Philadelphia, broke on top and had a three-length lead by the time he whirled in the first turn. Eaby rushed him fast around the bends and when he turned for home lashed the colt several times and he started adding to his lead. As he raced under the imaginary wire with his ears pricking, Happy Scot was enjoying a fourth-length lead over Up, one that James Crofton, of California, purchased this morning for $15,000 from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, of Washington.

Up Beats Out St. Agnes In Stretch.

Up broke third at the start, gave way for a bit to Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' St. Agnes, but once straightened out in the stretch Up went on to an easy victory of the place over St. Agnes.

Happy Scot's victory enriched his owner to the extent of $5,920, while those folks who wagered on his chances received $8.40 for the usual investment. This big pay-off was due to the fans installing Harry Payne Whitney's Equipoise favorite at post time.

A. Robertson has been riding Equipoise in previous races. When Workman received the mount, the fans flocked to the colt like he was home, but they ran into misfortune as Equipoise stumbled soon after the break and unseated his rider. However, Workman escaped with only a slight shaking up.

Starter Spoils Chances Of Kaleidoscope.

One of those good things, which go over at every meeting, was spoiled when the starter ordered Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Kaleidoscope out of No. 1 stall and put the colt on the outside of the field of eleven in the day's 4½-furlong opener.

Kaleidoscope, who was a heavy favorite in the wagering, finally finished fourth behind George D. Widener's Alpine Girl, the winner; the Alwyngton Stable's Dunlin's Lad and the Rancocas Stable's Explore, who ran as named.

Kaleidoscope, it is true, rushed through the barrier when taken in to the stalls, but the starter showed an utter disregard for the people's money by immediately ordering the colt to have a twitch put on him and having him taken outside his field.

Newton Comes From Rear To Cop Second.

R. A. Smith's Newton graduated from the ranks of the maidens when he led six others over the mile and 70 yards of the second.

Fallacious rushed into a two-length lead rounding the first turn, and it looked for a while as if he would walk off with the purse. However, Newton kept gaining on the early pacemaker and, within the final 70 yards, managed to get on even terms.

After a short brush Newton, due to his better condition, managed to draw away from Fallacious, with Berber taking the minor award.

The Chincoteague, a mile and 70 yards affair, proved just a workout for J. E. Davis' Colossal, who whipped G. L. Stryker's Aziz, with F. Sanome's Black Patricia third.

Guilford, of the Griffith entry, led the field of seven around the first turn. However, Colossal was always within striking distance and, when Robertson set the ultimate winner down at the far turn he ran into a long lead to win handily.

NEWTON, outrun in the early stages, but remaining in nearest pursuit of FALLACIOUS, moved to the latter steadily in the last three furlongs, withstood a long drive in a game finish and was up in the last strides. FALLACIOUS sprinted into an easy lead, saved much ground, but flattened out fast in the last quarter mile. BERBER, backing up the pace the last half mile, closed stoutly through the last half mile. MORLEY, hard urged, made a bold move when leaving the back stretch, but tired. WILD FOWL had speed in spots. MORLEY suffered interference at the first turn.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AL GREEN, $21.00, $6.00, $3.30; PHILLIP, $2.50, $2.20; SIR JAMES, $3.80.

AL GREEN BRINGS HOME "LONG GREEN" IN FOURTH.

AL GREEN, a keen factor from the beginning, came stoutly for the final issue, caught PHILLIP in the last sixteenth and outstayed the latter in the final drive. PHILLIP, rated along early, saved ground, but hung badly when the winner charged. SIR JAMES outrun in the early racing, made up ground stoutly through the stretch run. ZIDA lacked speed and was held safe. SUN MEMORY went along with PHILLIP, but tired and was not preserved with. HACKY H was outrun.

FIFTH RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $5,000 added. The Pimlico Nursery. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:42. Off at 5:47½. Winner, Samuel Ross' b. c. (2), by Scoteh Broom—Felicitation. Trained by M. Smart. Value to winner, $5,920; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $250. Time, 0:22 3-5, 0:47, 0:53 4-5.

HAPPY SCOT MAKES FAITHFUL HAPPY IN THE FIFTH.

HAPPY SCOT, showing extreme speed, sprinted into an easy lead shortly after the break, was kept under mild urging and easily held UP safe. Latter, hard ridden and going in good fashion, was unable to threaten the winner. ST. AGNES went forwardly for the entire journey and showed a good test. GIGANTIC was never able to threaten the leaders. FARR could never improve his position.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 6:17. Off at 6:19. Winner, M. Goodpaster's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PADDOCK, $16.80, $9.90, $5.20; IMA QUEEN, $11.90, $8.80; CECELIA GROB, $4.60.

PADDOCK BEST OUT OF PADDOCK GOING TO SIXTH BARRIER.

PADDOCK, moving into a winning lead at once, was kept in reserve until reaching the stretch, where he was taken in hand to finish with much in reserve. IMA QUEEN worked her way up on the outside and closed with good energy, but was no match for the winner. CECELIA GROB, prominent and going in the first flight, weakened in the final furlong. DOWAGER game enough in the final drive. FAIR BOB weakened fast when the real issue came. GUILDER went evenly.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 6:50. Off at 6:54. Winner, E. A. Raymond's ch. f. JANE RINEHART SCORES AT LONGEST PRICE IN THE FINALE.

JANE RINEHART following the lead closely, was inclined to bear out during the stretch run and, finishing very wide just lasted to stall off GNOME BOY. Latter worked his way up on the outside, went to the inside when the winner bore out and would have been winner in a few more strides.

—Pimlico Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

BALTIMORE, May 2.—Two $5,000 features are carded for the first Saturday's racing here. They are the Green Spring Valley Steeplechase and the Pimlico Oaks. Both are $5,000 added affairs. The Chase will be run as the second number, and the Oaks as the fifth. Both features are open races and so are the other five contests carded for tomorrow.

FEATURES.

We have no true line on Green Spring Valley field, with the exception of EIDER. He was beaten ten lengths by Fair Class in a jumping event at the United Hunts meeting a few weeks ago. It isn't bad dope to string along with steeplechasers trained by Big Jim Healey. He sends his jumpers to the post fit. EIDER has had a race. We know he is fit. LIZARD is fast, but he stops. ROONEY should go well in the Green Spring Valley, provided he is up to a race. Twelve are named to start. It is going to be an interesting race to watch.

Hal Price Headley's ALCIBIADES will represent the West in the Pimlico Oaks. The daughter of Supremus and Regal Roman failed badly in the Ashland Oaks several weeks ago, but that was her first start of the year and she probably needed the race. After showing good early speed she stopped.

Since the Ashland Oaks ALCIBIADES has trained well over both the Lexington and Pimlico tracks. She turned in an exceptionally good mile for tomorrow's race a couple days ago. ALCIBIADES has an outer post position. She'll have to leave on her toes as they will all be fighting for a good position going to the first turn. The Oaks will be decided over the mile and 70 yards course.

Harry Payne Whitney has a strong Oaks entry in MURKY CLOUD and FLIMSY. Both fillies raced well at Havre de Grace. MURKY CLOUD was good over a distance of ground last year. HER GRACE has won three straight in Maryland. She may win the Oaks, but she hasn't been beating the kind she will meet tomorrow and she hasn't been tried over a route.

PANDA is preferred over SNOW FLAKE. PANDA has been given a careful preparation for the Oaks. SNOW FLAKE has worked very well for the race, but it's a rather tough spot, considering it's her first start of the year. SNOW FLAKE should be well suited at the distance. She won the mile and a sixteenth endurance handicap at Bowie last fall.

FIRST RACE—SCHOONER shapes up as the most probable winner of the day. The son of Bud Lerner will break from an outer position in the day's initial number, the Orcele purse, for 2-year-olds.

With Laverne Fator on his back he is most certain to be in a good position as the field leaves the backstretch. SCHOONER'S last winning effort at Havre De Grace was very good. He's been very consistent in Maryland this spring. ALL HAIL may be the one SCHOONER will have to lick. The Jeffords filly was beaten but a length by Happy Scot last Tuesday. Prior to that effort, however, SCHOONER gave her a sound beating. UNCLE SAM is a nice looking colt and he may be better than his last two races suggest. TOTEM should be close-up in the day's opener.

THIRD RACE — SUMMER DAY started for the second time last Wednesday and she showed smart improvement over her initial effort. Those close to the H. P. Whitney stable claim she is a real runner. She may be graduated in this race, a 4½ furlong dash for maiden juveniles. OVER SHADY has been second in her three Maryland races. A consistent filly like this can't be a maiden long. UNCLE SAM is entered in the third and first races. He's in good hands and his trainer will, no doubt, let him go where he has the best chance. We have him third in both contests.

IMAGINARY couldn't beat a field of platers Thursday. However, he has only to repeat that effort to hold the others in the third race safe.

FOURTH RACE—SUN FALCON was backed with confidence by last Tuesday's crowd. He broke slowly and finished third to Timon and Yankee Doodle in a six-furlong dash. We believe he has been trained to go a route. With that last race under his belt he should now be ready for his best effort and he meets a field of maidens in the fourth event. RAZZLE is reported as having worked fast and the same can be said of FASCINATE. We fancy these two as named.

SIXTH RACE—GUILFORD should go well in a race like this. He was outclassed opening day when he raced with horses like Twink, Coin Collector and Chief Executive. GUILFORD should like the Pimlico track as it has a very soft cushion. EQUATION may be the one to beat. This fellow has been the victim of poor handling his last two or three starts. TOKI is fast and she won her last race at Havre de Grace, but she was lucky. She can stop as fast as she begins. COGAIR is the class of the others, but he pulled up slightly lame after his last Bowie race. He may need one.

SEVENTH RACE—HOMELIKE is meeting slightly better platers in tomorrow's nightcap than he licked last Tuesday, but the easy manner in which he scored convinced us he can beat better ones. BLAZING CINCH was anchored with 128 pounds on his back last Wednesday. He showed a fair effort, nevertheless. SLICKAWAY is the class of the seventh race. He pulled up very lame after his race last Monday. His owner has him in very cheap and probably expects some one to claim him. Running on three legs, he should be close up tomorrow. FIRE OPAL should like the Pimlico footing.

500 COMPETE IN 4-SPORT CARD AT MARYLAND TODAY

School Meet Draws 38 Teams

Maryland, Virginia in Dual Track Meet Engagement.

Old Liners Play C. U. Nine and St. John's Lacrosse Team.

APPROXIMATELY 500 athletes, taking part in four events, will display their skill in track, baseball and lacrosse at the University of Maryland today as the Old Liners hold their annual field day.

The program follows:

1:30—Interscholastic meet, with 38 schools and 385 individuals competing in 13 open events and 5 closed to county high schools of the State.

1:30—Dual meet between Virginia and Maryland, to be run off concurrently with scholastics.

2 o'clock—Baseball game between Catholic University and Maryland.

4 o'clock—Lacrosse game between St. John's, of Annapolis, and Maryland.

A hot fight is promised among nearly ten teams for the scholastic trophy, Virginia is given a big edge in the dual meet with the Old Liners, while the baseball and lacrosse engagements appear to be even battles.

Milburn, one of the Old Liners' best hurlers, is due to pitch against Catholic University, while Maryland doubtless will have to face Hurley, ace of the Brooklanders' staff.

Local interest in the interscholastic half-mile centers around the performances of Capt. Al Reichman, of Tech, and Chester Miles, of Eastern, with the possibility of a new record being established in this event. The present record of 2:03¾ seems in danger, with Miles, in his first race at the half-mile, a threat to Tech's star middle distance runner.

Lacrosse Game Carries National Angle.

While the other events are attractive and will have their large followings, it is the lacrosse tilt that is holding the main attention. It not only holds the local and State spotlight, but is getting national recognition in that it may be the game to decide winner of the collegiate honors for the year.

St. John's puts all its athletic assets into lacrosse as it has no other spring sport, while Maryland, despite its diversity of pastimes, has one of the best teams in its history, and the Old Liners most always are in the running for the national title.

The lacrosse line-ups:

St. John's.	Position.	Maryland.
Armacost	Goal	Kelly
E. Lotz	Point	Deckman
F. Lotz	Point	Dodson
Morris	F. D.	(C.) Heavy
Carpenter	S. D.	Nicholson
Cornbrooks (C.)	M. D.	Morris
Baird	Center	Beck
Ziegler	T. A.	Wilson
Neff	S. A.	Lee
Pool	O. H.	Colosimo
Job	O. H.	Stieber
O'Connor	I. H.	Evans

One ticket is good for all of the events, with a 50-cent rate in force for school students.

40 Entries Expected For Indianapolis Race

Indianapolis, May 1 (A.P.).—Speedway officials announced today that 32 cars had been entered in the annual 500-mile race to be run here May 30, entries for which will close at midnight tonight.

T. E. Myers, general manager of the course, said he had assurance that at least ten more entries would be made before the dead line. Forty automobiles will be permitted to start the long grind this year, provided they pass the qualifying trials.

America's greatest active drivers are among those nominated to drive the cars already entered. Among them are Louie Meyer, racing champion in 1928 and 1929, and Pete de Paolo, 1925 and 1927 champion, and holder of the 500-mile speed record of 101.13 miles an hour average.

having used the top half of the round to score their final markers of the game. O'Rourke and Manush opened with singles, Schulte scored one with a double, Cronin's three-base error let two more count, and the fourth registered after Myer had raced almost to center for Gullic's looper.

Nats Make Final Splurge In the Eighth.

Both pitchers then settled down and there was nothing more doing until the natives counted a brace of markers in their eighth, giving them their highest total of the season. Steely, a young southpaw, who had started work opening the home seventh and pitched hitless ball, had his troubles in the next frame. Myer opened with a single, took third on Cronin's double, and then Bluege scored both with a one-shot to left.

Jones granted but seven hits and no St. Louis player was credited with more than one.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime—By H. W. Webster

Woodward Nine 7-1 Victor Over Rockville

Started by Joe Freer, who hit the first ball pitched for a home run as the lead off batter in the game, the Woodward Nine went on to beat Rockville, 7 to 1, yesterday on the Rockville diamond in a game halted in the sixth inning on account of rain.

Hyattsville previously defeated Laurel and Maryland Park. Hyattsville will now meet the victor in the lower loop for county laurels.

STEVINSON WINS IN TOURNEY FINAL

curing a half when Stevinson took two putts. On the twentieth hole Stevinson, on the green, had the match in the bag, for Cox was in a trap, but he putted 9 feet beyond the cup and had to be content with a half in 4. He finally won on the twenty-second, the long fourth of the card, when he was on the green with his second shot, and holed out with a birdie 4.

As there were two pick-ups in the Stevinson-Nicholson match, the cards are incomplete. On the other holes the figures were as follows:

Nicholson	5	3	4	4	4	6	4	5	3

W. & M. NET TEAM LOSES TWICE

Battles John Law Before Bowing to G.W. on Count, 8-1.

ANXIETY on the part of Bob Hall, manager of the George Washington University Tennis Team, to get his team back into its winning ways following its first defeat in two years last Thursday, almost resulted in no match at all yesterday for the Colonial racqueters.

While driving the first of two cars of William and Mary netmen to the scene of yesterday's battle, Hall was stopped by a speed cop of the Maryland State police who charged him with driving 38 miles per hour and compelled both automobiles to drive to No. 4 Police Station in Tenleytown.

Without funds, Hall and the William and Mary players were at a loss as to means of escaping from the hands of John Law, until memory of the $20 guarantee check in his pocket flashed through Hall's mind.

Indian's Guarantee Check Saves the Day.

Though not allowed to go out of the station house, Hall gave the check to a member of the Indian team who got it cashed and returned with the money.

Probably frightened by this rude display of local hospitality, the Indian netmen offered little resistance in the eventual match and dropped an 8-1 decision to the G. W. team.

Murden Hurls V. P. I. To N. C. State Victory

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., May 2.Lloyd Murden erturned to the mound after a month's absence to hurl V. P. I. to a 5-to-1 win over North Carolina State College here today. The win was the sixth straight for the Gobblers and the sixth trimph in he Tristate League.

Murden made his entry here a year ago with a no-hit, no-run performance against the Staters, and was master again this afternoon. He allowed but five hits, scattered over as many innings, and led the attack with a triple and single in four times up. His long triple in the second scored Nicholas and Niehouse with the first two runs, and would have been a circuit swap on a dry field. V. P. I. continued heavy hitting, with eleven safeties for fifteen bases.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 2.—Episcopal High School Tennis and Baseball Teams will travel to Baltimore tomorrow afternoon to play Gilman Country School in a return game on the diamond, while the tennis teams are playing their first match of the season. In the first baseball game the local school defeated the Gilman Team, and Coach Callaway's charges hope to duplicate the victory tomorrow. Either Barnes or Tilton will get the call on the mound, with Carter doing the receiving.

Coach Reid and his tennis team will try to extend their consecutive wins to four, having only been defeated once this season.

While the baseball and tennis teams will be busy tomorrow at Baltimore, the trackmen will be engaged in the annual invitation meet held at the University of Virginia. Last season the local school came out victorious. The relay team that represented the Episcopal School in the Penn relays will be entered tomorrow afternoon and should make a real bid for honors. Capt. Coles should capture a few first places in the field events.

Alexandria High School's Baseball Team finally broke its jinx on the diamond, when it defeated the Woodward School from Washington decisively, 27 to 3, with Coach Reynolds using his entire squad of twenty players. New players who have become eligible since the first of the month have bolstered the team considerably. This was the first win for the local high school this season in seven starts.

The Del Ray A. C. Baseball Team has arranged another attractive game to be played Sunday afternoon on Duncan Field. It will cross bats with the Naval Hospital Nine of Washington at 3 o'clock.

The St. Mary's Celtics held a meeting last night and Fred Petitt was elected coach of the basket ball team for next season. He had charge of the Celtics in the last few games that they played this season. Jack Allen will continue as manager.

Sales Break 1930 Records; 2,000,000 Shares Are Sold in Last Hour.

CHRYSLER PROVES FIRM

New York, May 2 (A.P.).—Disregarding the favorable traffic signal of cheap money, the stock market steered today into a one-way street and came up precipitately at the bottom of the largest decline since early last December. Sales totaled 5,987,300 shares, the year's record total.

After moving irregularly during most of the day, the market was carried downward with exceptional rapidity in the final hour on an enormous volume of short selling and pool liquidation and the final prices disclosed net losses of 2 to 16 points, chiefly in the industrial, utility and specialty groups.

Sales in the last 50 minutes exceeded 2,000,000 shares as blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares of prominent stocks were unloaded. The late selling came suddenly and found the tape well abreast of the trading, but the ticker soon fell behind under the enormous volume of offerings.

Rail Index Rises Slightly.

The decline, as measured by the price index of 90 shares was 5.8 points, surpassing the drop of last Monday by nine-tenths of a point. The industrials tumbled 5.5 and the utilities 12.3, while the rails, which had borne the brunt of the bear attack in recent sessions, moved up slightly despite the fact that half a dozen stocks in the group went to new lows for the year.

The day's news was rather mixed. President Hoover's encouraging report on business prospects before the United States Chamber of Commerce and a lowering of money rates on this market were accompanied by a reduction in the prices of a few steel items by a United States Steel subsidiary and by another ease in commodities. The cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate did little but bring money into adjustment with the new figure, and failed to have the bullish stock market effect which previous reductions had had. Wall street was inclined to regard the new rate as an indication that money was going begging, and operators for the decline seized on this point to bolster their case.

Stocks were heavily sold during the morning, but the volume declined around noon and the list got mild support, only to meet the severe pressure of the last hour. U. S. Steel, after touching 180¼ on the rally, was shoved down to 174¾, a new low for the movement. At the closing price of 176, it showed a net loss of 2 points. Allied Chemical, United Carbon, and Columbian Carbon were whirled down 8 to 16 points. Oil and amusement stocks dropped 2 to 12. Standard Oil of New Jersey losing 4; and Shubert & Loew's, 3. Radio lost 7.

Recent Leaders Lose Heavily.

Eastman Kodak, American Can, General Electric, American & Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, Public Service of New Jersey, International Telephone, National Power & Light and Standard Gas & Electric fell 4 to 12.

Chrysler was firm despite the earnings statement showing first-quarter profit of 4 cents a share against $2 in the same period of 1929, for the unfavorable showing was about in line with estimates.

The foreign exchange list was mixed, featured by an advance in the French franc and a slight easing in sterling. Cotton closed steady, with small net declines. Wheat sagged fractionally, and corn lost about a cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 2 (A.P.).—Unofficial monthly crop summaries indicating reduced yields and decreased acreage for the United States 1930 wheat harvest did much to steady wheat prices today. The effects of the jolt given to all grain markets yesterday by emergency measures relative to over-crowded storage facilities here were still apparent, though, and buyers showed lack of confidence. On the other hand, not much disposition was shown to press speculative selling and the day ended in virtually a draw as between bulls and bears.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, varying from 1c decline to ¾c advance, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾ to 1⅛ cents down, oats ¼c off to ⅛ to ¼c up, and provisions showing 10 to 40 cents gain.

Outstanding as features of the May unofficial crop reports were estimates pointing to 7,000,000 bushels less domestic winter wheat yield this season than was suggested by the Government's April forecast. This curtailment implied that the 1930 winter wheat production would be 33,000,000 bushels below last year's harvest. Moreover, today's private estimates foreshadowed 7.3 per cent decrease of United States spring wheat acreage and 4.8 per cent decrease in Canada. The general run of other news was also a little more favorable to friends of higher prices for wheat, notably advices from Liverpool saying trade there were uneasy over the fact that the Liverpool market is below a world parity.

Wheat bears in Chicago, nevertheless, made much of statements by a leading crop authority in his monthly survey that good rains lately in most sections of the winter wheat belt were of great benefit, and came in time to check a serious situation which was developing in the Southwest. There was also much notice taken of comment in another monthly crop report that crop prospects are above official reports for all territory from Texas to Nebraska inclusive but that May rainfall must be much above the satisfactory outlook is to be maintained. Under such circumstances, wheat prices held within relatively narrow limits today from start to finish.

Heavy liquidating sales continued in the corn market today, with much speculative selling also. Crowded storage facilities here were a bearish factor. Oats averaged higher, influenced by reduced estimates of stocks of oats on farms as compared with a year ago.

Provisions advanced, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

RISE IN RAILS HEADS FIRMER BOND SALES

Nearly Entire List Rallies With Unusually Heavy Buying in Carriers.

TURNOVER OFF SLIGHTLY

New York, May 2 (A.P.).—Reduction of the New York Federal Reserve discount rate and generally easier money conditions gave new strength to the listed bond market today.

The standard railroad securities led the advance on the heaviest buying in weeks, and closing prices in some instances were not far from the year's high. Practically the whole list, with the exception of speculative issues and secondary industrials, felt the buoyant influences in the market.

Sales were smaller than yesterday, the busiest session in five weeks, but the general price trend was improved, the averages for 30 bonds reached 100.1 the highest since March 27.

The developments of yesterday and today tending to ease credit asserted themselves. Call money renewed at 3½ for the first time in a month, and the rate then went to 3. Time accommodations were easier by ¼ per cent.

Unusually heavy buying was shown in some of the high-grade rails, including Union Pacific 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Erie 5s, St. Louis and San Francisco 4½s, with gains reaching ¾ of a point.

Utilities also advanced, although not as extensively as the rails. Denver Gas and Electric 5s gained a point. American Telephone debenture 5½s, Utah Power & Light 5s with warrants, North American Edison 5½s advanced from ¼ to ¾ of a point.

National Dairy 5½s, U. S. Rubber 5s, Inland Steel 4½s, and Armour & Co. 5½s made the best gain in the industrial group. Cuba Cane Products 6s sank to new low ground at 17½.

Gains of ¼ to 1 point were made by the most popular foreign governments. British 5½s and French Republic 7s were the features. Heavy buying in the United States Governments brought moderate improvement to the group. The largest sales were in Liberty fourths 4¼, up 13-32s.

CHECK DATA SHOWS SLUMP IN BUSINESS

U. S. Report Says Trade as Whole Has Displayed Little Change.

NEW LIST OF SECURITIES

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Business volume as indicated by check payments for the week ended April 26 was lower than for the preceding week and the corresponding week last year, the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce reveals. In its summary of the business situation the department states that operations in steel plants during the latest reported week were higher than the week prior but less than a year ago and that production of bituminous coal was nearly 2 per cent under the previous week and 6 per cent below what it was a year ago.

Petroleum production remained the same as in the preceding week, but was 4 per cent lower than in 1929. The value of building contracts also declined from the week before and was much below the comparative period last year. The general index of wholesale prices was slightly below that for a week ago and nearly 7 per cent lower than the week in 1929. Composite iron and steel prices remained practically the same as the previous week but were 7 per cent lower than a year ago.

Uniform interest rates were urged at the Reserve City Bankers Association convention, just closed at Memphis, Tenn., and at which Washington was represented by President Robert V. Fleming and Vice President A. M. Nevius, of Riggs National Bank; Vice President Wilmer J. Waller, Federal-American National Bank, and Deputy Comptroller of the Currency F. G. Awalt.

Interest Rates Vary Greatly.

Interest rates were discussed and the report of a special committee, which has been studying all classes of interest was heard. It showed that interest rates which the banks pay on checking accounts vary greatly throughout the country and take a surprisingly high percentage of earnings.

It is the aim of bankers to acquire a greater uniformity in interest rates and to place them on a sounder basis. It was shown that while in the case of a $1,000 deposit, the bank must place 10 per cent of the amount with the Federal Reserve Bank and hold another portion to cover any checks that may be drawn, thus depriving the bank of interest on the full amount, nevertheless the bank pays the depositor interest on the full deposit.

Considerable attention was given to branch and group banking and many and diverse views were expressed on money rates, some seeing a long period of easy money and others believing it will be tighter in two months. Deputy Comptroller Awalt was a speaker at the meeting.

Lanston Monotype Earnings.

Earnings of $14.38 a share on 60,000 outstanding shares of Lanston Monotype Machine Co. stock compare with $13.38 a share on 59,499 shares outstanding in the previous year. The company's balance sheet as of February 28, 1930, shows total assets of $10,702,948, as against $10,272,873 on February 28, 1929, the surplus being $4,532,592, against $4,137,502. Current assets at the close of the fiscal year amounted to $5,519,795, and current liabilities, $167,556, as against $4,742,975, and $185,471, respectively, at the close of the preceding year.

A new list of Washington securities has been published by Crane, Parris & Co., including public utility, insurance, miscellaneous, bank and trust company stocks as well as public utility and miscellaneous bonds.

President Robert V. Fleming, of Riggs National Bank, will attend meetings next week of the executive council of the American Bankers Association at Old Point Comfort, Va., being a member of several important committees.

J. Thilman Hendrick, chairman of the board of Lanston Monotype Machine Co., and President H. D. Best, of the company, sailed yesterday from New York on a business visit to the London office of the firm.

TELEPHONE GROWTH IN ARLINGTON CITED

100 Per Cent Increase Seen Since 1925 in Report of Area Manager.

MINSTREL SHOW SCORES

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Telephones in Clarendon are increasing rapidly, and the exchange now has a total of 3,400 in service, an increase of more than 100 per cent in the past five years, according to J. A. Deuterman, manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in Virginia for this area.

"So rapid has been the increase in the number of telephones in the area served from the Clarendon exchange that it has been necessary to make extensive outside plant and equipment additions to take care of the daily demand for service. Since 1925 the company has made additions and improvements to the telephone plant at Clarendon, involving expenditures of $315,300.

"These facilities," he said, "include additional cable, poles and wire in every section of Clarendon and its suburbs. Establishment of this plant has involved expenditures of more than $200,000. Additions to the central office equipment have involved further expenditures of $100,000.

The first telephone central office in Clarendon was placed in service March 7, 1920, at which time there were 750 telephones connected with the switchboard. Of this number, 400 were located in Clarendon and immediate vicinity, while the remaining 350 were connected with rural lines extending throughout the county. The first office in Clarendon was located on the second floor of the building on Washington avenue, the Clarendon postoffice at that time utilizing the first floor. Subsequently, due to rapid telephone growth, it became necessary to utilize the entire building as the main exchange. In addition to this building, the company now maintains a business office on Wilson boulevard, where Mr. Deuterman and his force supervise affairs of the company.

Concluding, Mr. Deuterman said: "The Clarendon central office replaced the telephone office formerly operated at Rosslyn by the Falls Church Telephone & Telegraph Co., of which M. E. Church was the principal owner. When this office was placed in service, in 1898, there were only about 50 telephones connected with the switchboard.

"The Falls Church Telephone Co. was acquired by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Virginia in 1916."

Before a capacity audience in the Lyon Park Community House the Lyon Park Citizens Association staged its second annual minstrel show. It will be repeated tonight.

Officers Elected By Wool Growers

Augusta County Group to Pool Their Product Again This Year.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., May 2.—John H. East, of Churchville, yesterday was elected president of the Augusta County Wool Growers Association, and Joseph C. Coiner, county farm demonstration agent, was named secretary. T. C. Dickerson, Staunton; President East and L. S. Kiracofe, both of Churchville; Harvey Cline, Mount Sidney; W. W. Trimble, Swoope, and W. H. Shiflet, Fishersville, were named on the board to handle the 1930 wool crop.

The growers decided to pool their wool again this year, and at a future date may, if deemed advisable, affiliate with the United States Farm Board, disposing of their product through this Federal organization.

K. A. Keithley, of the Richmond division of markets, addressed the growers, explaining the Federal Farm Board's plan for handling wool. He also announced that prices on fine and coarser wool would be about the same as last year, when a 10-cent margin was paid in favor of the coarser wool.

47 SCHOOL CHILDREN INSPECT ASH LAWN

New York Pupils to Buy Bust of Monroe if He Goes Into Hall of Fame.

CAPITAL WOMAN SPEAKS

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., May 2.—If the fifth President of the United States is elected to the Hall of Fame, the James Monroe High School of New York City will purchase a bust of Monroe, costing $3,000, to be placed at Ash Lawn, home of the author of the Monroe Doctrine, recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Johns, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and converted into a national shrine.

Announcement to this effect was made by Dr. Martin L. Wilson, professor of history at the Monroe School, New York, who accompanied a delegation of 47 pupils from that institution here to attend exercises at Ash Lawn in connection with the formal dedication of the new shrine.

Dr. Wilson expressed confidence that the Hall of Fame electors would pass favorably on the selection of Monroe.

Busy Afternoon for Children.

The New York school children put in a busy afternoon here today. Arriving shortly after noon, they were taken to the Monticello Hotel for luncheon and thence to Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, where an hour was spent in inspecting the mansion and going over the spacious grounds, with its rare trees.

From Monticello the school children proceeded to the Monroe home, Ash Lawn, where they were cordially welcomed by the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Johns. On hand, also, to greet the pupils was the senior class of Lane High School, this city. Brief addresses, welcoming the youthful pilgrims, were made by H. H. Walker, Lane High School faculty, and by A. L. Bennett, head of the public schools of Albemarle County.

Washington Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, of Washington, great-granddaughter of Monroe, recounted some of the achievements of her ancestor, recalling that he was a lieutenant colonel before he was 21 years of age, a member of Congress at the age of 25, and a United States senator at 32. She closed with Jefferson's tribute to Monroe: "A soul so white that if it were turned inside out, not a single blemish could be found."

While at the landmark the New York pupils made a wreath of evergreens, which they presented to Mrs. Hoes, to be placed by her tomorrow on Monroe's tomb in Richmond.

Mason Rites Dent Historic Old Spade

Tool Used to Break Ground for B. & O. Fails in Temple Use.

Baltimore, May 2 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The historic spade used by Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Maryland's signer of the Declaration of Independence, in breaking ground for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad July 4, 1828, was badly bent today, when ground was broken with it for the new $1,000,000 Scottish Rite Masonic temple here.

The carefully preserved tool, which has been in possession of the Masons for many years, seemed too frail for the hard crust of soil into which it was thrust by J. Edward Richardson, president of the Scottish Rite holding company. The spade will be put back among Masonic archives with the dent as a souvenir of the occasion.

B. & O. officials had lost track of the spade, which has not been used since Carroll wielded it a century ago, until the B. & O. centenary and iron horse celebration, when they learned it was treasured among Masonic archives.

SELLER IS CONVICTED IN SOLDIER RUM BUY

Three-Month Sentence and $200 Fine Imposed in Upper Marlboro.

FORT CHIEFS COMPLAIN

Charged with having sold liquor within 500 yards of the gate to Fort Washington, United States Army post, Albert Proctor, colored, yesterday was sentenced to serve three months in the Maryland House of Correction and to pay a fine of $200 by Judge J. Chew Sheriff in Upper Marlboro branch of Prince Georges County Police Court. He was convicted largely upon the testimony of four privates from the post who testified that they had purchased liquor from Proctor.

According to the story related at the hearing, the four privates went to the home of Proctor on their day off and purchased a gallon of alleged liquor from him for $5. The soldiers then became involved in an argument and Proctor is alleged to have thrown a half gallon bottle at them. The soldiers returned to the fort where their story was heard by Lieut. D. C. McNair, officer of the guard.

The lieutenant notified Prince Georges County Sheriff Charles S. Early who sent Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Hepburn, Harry Robinson and L. E. Dutrow and County Policeman V. M. Nichols to raid Proctor's house. No liquor was found on the premises by the raiding party, but Proctor was charged with illegal sale of intoxicating liquor on the testimony of the four soldiers.

Last spring, officers from the fort led county police in a series of raids on nearby establishments which netted several prisoners and a large quantity of liquor. One of the defendants was found to be the wife of one of the sergeants at the fort, who had several cases of alleged beer which she claimed had been manufactured for family use.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

WE were awakened by the ringing of the doorbell—7 o'clock in the morning.

"Who could that be—at such an ungodly hour?" cried Luella, leaping into her what's-its-name.

"It might be the sheriff," I suggested. "What've you been doing lately?"

Cautiously she tip-toed down the stairs, as the bell kept up an incessant jangle. No chance to sleep further. I peered over the ledge, longing for a monkey-wrench or something to drop on the head of the intruder. 'Twas the first answer to my ad for a maid—the ad that Luella knew nothing about.

"Is you de woman what advertised for a lady to come an' work in de house?" the portly dame asked, and Luella, aghast, sent the applicant for a job scurrying down the pathway.

* * * *

LUELLA met me on the stairway.

"What's all the shouting about?" I asked.

"A woman—for a job," she replied, bustling past me.

"Yeah?"

"She must've got the wrong number."

In a little while the doorbell rang again. Another applicant.

"I can't understand this," said Luella, as she turned away the second woman. "Some one must have given our address by mistake."

The third applicant had the ad in her hand.

"Why didn't you take her?" I asked Luella, as she drove the girl off the premises.

"Because," said Luella, "I have decided to do my own housework."

"Oh——"

"Yes, but what I'm gonna do now is call up the newspaper and ask 'em who inserted the ad."

AS Luella was phoning, the doorbell rang again.

"You answer it," she commanded, and I went to greet the latest applicant. Down the street I saw what looked like a parade—headed for our house. No wonder they talk about unemployment.

Luella was flabbergasted.

"It looks to me," I remarked, "as if you'd have to hire one of those women to answer the door for the rest of 'em!"

"I'd like to know who put that ad in the paper," she said. "I'd——"

My, but she was mad.

By this time there were five girls and an elderly woman at the front door.

"Have them go around to the back," Luella told me. "What'll the neighbors think?"

"They'll think you're having a servant girls' convention unless you hire one of these people."

* * * *

"THEY can think whatever they want. I'm not going to hire anybody, but I am going to sue that newspaper. Call the police and have the mob dispersed."

For my own protection I broke down and told her I had inserted the ad.

"What for?" cried Luella.

"To save you!" I said, soothing her. "To save you from the drudgery of housework."

She ran to me and kissed me. "You old dear," she said. "I don't want to be saved. Anything I do to make you happy is just so much joy to me. I'm going to clean the living room today—and you can give me a hand!"

The doorbell rang. Another applicant.

"What'll I tell this one?" I asked.

"Tell her the position is already taken," she said, and I knew I was hooked again as Luella's helper—the man-of-all-work.

MAN HELD GUILTY IN TRAFFIC DEATH

William Dundee Convicted of Manslaughter in Killing of Cumberland Girl.

AUTO RACE IS ALLEGED

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 2.—William Dundee, 28, of 4 Boone street, this city, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury late this afternoon in connection with the death of Miss Gertrude Harris, former art student in Washington, daughter of Dr. Edward Harris, physician of this city, in an automobile accident at the bottom of Long Hill, near the outskirts of Cumberland, early on the morning of February 4. Following the verdict, Dundee, who had been under bond was taken to jail. He also has been under bond for appearance in Federal court Monday, May 12, on a liquor charge.

State's Attorney William A. Huster sought to show that the crash in which Miss Harris lost her life came as the result of a race in which Dundee and Frank Peddicord, who had Miss Catherine M. Smith as a passenger, participated. Peddicord and Miss Smith contended they knew nothing of the accident until they returned toward the city and found the wrecked machine. Members of the party denied they had been drinking.

Capt. J. Philip Roman, attorney for Dundee, sought to prove that the accident resulted when the accelerator on the machine stuck and the brakes failed. Much point was made by the defense of the condition of the motor in the wrecked car. The ride followed a restaurant party and State's Attorney Huster, after calling attention to the numerous manslaughter cases on the docket for the term, denounced the young men for taking the girls riding at 2 o'clock in the morning instead of taking them to their homes.

Dundee was injured in the same accident and was in the hospital several days. He is a son of George W. Dundee. His two sisters were members of a party of five killed several years ago when the automobile in which they were riding from a dance at Frostburg went through the Narrows Bridge. One sister, Eva, was noted for her beauty and had been a model in Washington.

Huge Tannery Fire Takes Jobs of 150

Units at Paw Paw May Not Be Rebuilt After $350,000 Night Blaze.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 2.—There is some doubt as to whether the units of the tannery of the Union Tanning Co. at Paw Paw, 25 miles east of Cumberland, destroyed by fire early last night, will be rebuilt. The plant employed 150 men, and since 1870, when it was built by Fayerweather & Ladew, has been the mainstay of the town. The tanning company, which has a plant in Cumberland, is subsidiary to the United States Leather Co., which has about 25 tanneries idle now, it is stated. Paw Paw is a big bark center, but bark does not enter into tanning as it once did, extract being used.

E. C. Ambrose, the plant superintendent, was absent from Paw Paw and an accurate estimate of the damage could not be learned, but it is placed unofficially from $350,000 to $500,000, two-thirds of it being due to the loss of green and drying leather in the yard buildings.

Hancock and Berkeley Springs firemen helped to fight the flames and two trucks were sent from the Cumberland department on a gondola over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, but were halted at Patterson's Creek when word was received that the fire was under control.

Mrs. Blosser was preparing supper and left the kitchen momentarily. When she returned, she found the child had upset the kettle, spilling the boiling water over his body.

100 ACRES RAVAGED BY BLAZE IN TIMBER

Mother Jones' Home Is One of Several Threatened by Forest Fire.

WORKERS HALT ADVANCE

Several homes, including that of Mother Jones, noted labor leader who celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday, were menaced yesterday by a forest fire which raged through approximately 100 acres of timberland in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties near Chillum.

The fire was discovered about 1 o'clock by Mrs. Walter E. Burgess, at whose home Mother Jones resides. Mrs. Burgess ran nearly a quarter of a mile to the nearest telephone that was not cut off by fire and called for fire engines. All of the volunteer companies in nearby Prince Georges and Montgomery County responded.

Silver Spring Volunteer Fire Department was first to reach the scene and to it was given the task of guarding Mother Jones' home from the flames. A cleared space of about 500 yards between the forest and the house assisted greatly in checking the fire.

Firemen Shake 'Mother's' Hand.

Mother Jones was not told of the danger until it was about over, when the firemen were escorted to her room to receive her thanks and a shake of the hand. When a reporter entered the room, Mother Jones asked: "Well, how are things going?" The newspaperman, mistaking her question for a query on the fire, said:

"Oh, the fire's about out now," he said.

"To hell with the fire! I mean the unemployment situation," the century-old labor leader replied.

The firemen experienced great difficulty in fighting the flames, which were fanned by a gusty wind. The wind kept the smoke low to the ground, making it difficult to get to the flames. Hampered by the lack of water, the firemen fought with the portable forest fire apparatus they carry on the trucks. A 5-gallon container of chemical is strapped on the fireman's back and sprayed through a hose.

Spotted by Lookout Station.

The fire was spotted by the fire lookout station at Muirkirk and a "smoke shooter" dispatched. Under the direction of District Forester Walter J. Quick, jr., the forest wardens and their fire gangs responded to the call for more help. About 200 men battled the flames.

The fire jumped the old Powder Factory road and continued down the slope of a hill, but was halted on this side by the prompt action of the fire fighters and a change in wind direction. The firemen concentrated most of their attention on saving the homes in the area and a colored church at Sitka.

Damage of several thousands of dollars was caused, including the summer wood supply of the Burgess home.

MacDonald Hears Negro Spirituals

Hampton Choir Will Sing at Westminster and Honor Explorer.

London, May 3 (A.P.).—The reception room of No. 10 Downing street resounded this afternoon to the voices of 40 American Negro boys and girls, members of the Hampton choir. They were guests of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter Ishbel.

The choir sang a group of Negro spirituals to the great delight of the hearers, which included the Austrian chancellor, Johann Schober, several members of the cabinet with their wives, and other distinguished personages. By request the choristers concluded with "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord" and then were entertained at tea.

Tomorrow the choir will give a public concert at Queen's Hall and Sunday will sing in Westminster Abbey after placing a wreath at the memorial to David Livingstone, African explorer.
